Rolling 12-month-performance

Source: Bellevue Asset Management, 31.05.2024; all figures in EUR %, total return / BVI-methodology
Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results and can be misleading. As the fund is denominated in a currency that may differ than an investor's base currency, changes in the rate of exchange may have an adverse effect on prices and incomes. Performance is shown net of fees and expenses for the relevant share class over the reference period. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and do not take into account the commissions and costs incurred on the issue and redemption of shares, if any. Individual costs are not taken into account and would have a negative impact on the performance. With an investment amount of EUR 1,000 over an investment period of five years, the investment result in the first year would be reduced by the front-end load of up to EUR 50 (5%) as well as by additional individual custody charges. In subsequent years, the investment result would also be reduced by the individual custody account costs incurred. The reference benchmark of this class is used for performance comparison purposes only (dividend reinvested). No benchmark is directly identical to a fund, thus the performance of a benchmark is not a reliable indicator of future performance of the fund to which it is compared. There can be no assurance that a return will be achieved or that a substantial loss of capital will not be incurred.

Market review

MSCI World Healthcare underperformed MSCI World in May 2024 by 179 bps (MSCI World Healthcare +2.7% vs. MSCI World +4.5%). With a positive absolute performance, the healthcare sector relative underperformance was driven largely by strength elsewhere. Nvidia (+27%; USD 571 bn market-cap) drove the IT sector (+8.6%) in May, creating a tough comparison for any other sector. Along with this, healthcare had some subsector specific news flow which was taken negatively in the month (for example, Medicaid concerns impacted MCOs; China headwinds for life science tools). The Bellevue Healthcare Strategy (Lux) Fund (I-shares: +2.0%, in USD) underperformed (by 66 bps) its healthcare index benchmark, with the broader geographic exposure proving to be a headwind in the month.

From a macro perspective, US indicators through much of May pointed to back to a “stronger-for-longer” scenario, with market Fed rate cut expectations pushed back further and bond yields moving upwards. Overall, US markets performed strongly in the month, driven by large-tech and the AI theme.

Within the MSCI World Healthcare Index, biotechnology (+5.6%) was the best performing subsector in the month, rebounding somewhat from prior lows. This was followed by pharmaceuticals (+3.7%), medtech (+1.6%), HC services (+1.1%) and life science tools (0.0%). From a geographical point of view, the Europe (+4.3%) region within the MSCI World healthcare index performed best, led by Alcon. This was followed by US (+2.2%), with Asia lagging (-1.3%).

Within the fund, strong absolute performances were reported during the month from Vertex Pharma (+15.9% in USD; pain program making progress), Alcon (+15.3%; strong Q1 results), and Pro Medicus (+10.4%; multiple contract wins). On the other hand, negative absolute performances were seen for Max Healthcare (-10.6%; inline quarter but high expectations), Hypera (-9.0%; mix results/guide), and Molina (-8.0%; Medicaid headwinds).

General description

The investment process for the Bellevue Healthcare Strategy Fund resembles the rules-based investment process that Bellevue has successfully applied since 2007. In this approach, the 45 most attractive stocks in the healthcare sector worldwide are selected every six months. The Bellevue Healthcare team screens about 700 of the 4000 listed companies in the healthcare sector worldwide based on four quantitative criteria (PEG valuation, price/sales, sales growth and EBITDA/sales) and four qualitative criteria (assessing the company’s management, product pipeline, operating risks and country-related risks). The ten most promising stocks from four different regions – Western Europe, North America, Japan/Australia and emerging markets – are selected. The maximum weighting of the region with the highest overall score, which is usually North America, is capped at 35% during the periodic rebalancing, which increases the emphasis given to emerging markets. Mid cap stocks have typically represented 60-80% and the Asia region approximately one-third of the portfolio. Pharmaceutical stocks are clearly underweighted compared to the MSCI World Healthcare Index. Bellevue has applied this investment approach since April of 2007 and it is used to compile the Adamant Global Healthcare Index.

Risk and return profile acc. to SRI

The Fund’s investment objective is to generate attractive and competitive long-term capital growth. It is particularly suited to investors with an investment horizon of at least 5 years. The Fund is exposed to the risks typical of equity investments.

We have classified this product as risk class 4 on a scale of 1 to 7, where 4 corresponds to a medium risk class. The risk of potential losses from future performance is classified as medium. In the event of very adverse market conditions, it is possible that the ability to execute your redemption request may be impaired. The calculation of the risk and earnings profile is based on simulated/historical data, which cannot be used as a reliable indication of the future risk profile. The classification of the fund may change in future and does not constitute a guarantee. Even a fund classed in category 1 does not constitute a completely risk-free investment. There can be no guarantee that a return will be achieved or that a substantial loss of capital will not be incurred. The overall risk exposure may have a strong impact on any return achieved by the fund or subfund. For further information please refer to the fund prospectus or PRIIP-KID.

Liquidity risk

The fund may invest some of its assets in financial instruments that may in certain circumstances reach a relatively low level of liquidity, which can have an impact on the fund’s liquidity.

Risk arising from the use of derivatives

The fund may conclude derivatives transactions. This increases opportunities, but also involves an increased risk of loss.

Currency risks

The fund may invest in assets denominated in a foreign currency. Changes in the rate of exchange may have an adverse effect on prices and incomes.

Operational risks and custody risks

The fund is subject to risks due to operational or human errors, which can arise at the investment company, the custodian bank, a custodian or other third parties.

Benefits

- Investments in the 45 most attractive healthcare stocks worldwide.
- Proprietary investment process: Half-yearly company evaluation and rebalancing.
- Underweighting of pharma and US stocks against the relevant healthcare indices.
- Strong focus on quality mid-caps.
- Bellevue – healthcare pioneer since 1993 and today one of the biggest independent investors in the sector in Europe.

Inherent risks

- The fund actively invests in equities. Equities are subject to strong price fluctuations and so are also exposed to the risk of price losses.
- The fund may invest a proportion of its assets in financial instruments that might under certain circumstances have a relatively low level of liquidity, which can in turn affect the fund’s liquidity.
- The fund invests in foreign currencies, which means a corresponding degree of currency risk against the reference currency.
- Investing in Emerging Markets entails the additional risk of political and social instability.
- The fund may engage in derivatives transactions. The increased opportunities gained come with an increased risk of losses.

You can find a detailed presentation of the risks faced by this fund in the “Special Investment Risks” section of the sales prospectus.
