Rolling 12-month-performance

Source: Bellevue Asset Management, 31.08.2025; all figures in EUR %, total return / BVI-methodology
Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results and can be misleading. As the fund is denominated in a currency that may differ than an investor's base currency, changes in the rate of exchange may have an adverse effect on prices and incomes. Performance is shown net of fees and expenses for the relevant share class over the reference period. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and do not take into account the commissions and costs incurred on the issue and redemption of shares, if any. Individual costs are not taken into account and would have a negative impact on the performance. With an investment amount of EUR 1,000 over an investment period of five years, the investment result in the first year would be reduced by the front-end load of up to EUR 50 (5%) as well as by additional individual custody charges. In subsequent years, the investment result would also be reduced by the individual custody account costs incurred. The reference benchmark of this class is used for performance comparison purposes only (dividend reinvested). The funds is actively managed. No benchmark is directly identical to a fund, thus the performance of a benchmark is not a reliable indicator of future performance of the fund to which it is compared. There can be no assurance that a return will be achieved or that a substantial loss of capital will not be incurred.

Market review

Emerging markets posted a mixed performance in August. The Hang Seng Index rose +2.1%, the CSI 300 advanced +11.6%, and Brazil's benchmark index, the Ibovespa, gained +9.4%. By contrast, the Korea Composite Stock Price Index (KOSPI) declined -1.6%, while the Nifty 50 fell -1.9%. Overall, the broader emerging-market equity universe ended the month modestly higher, up +1.3%.

The emerging-market healthcare equity sector (-1.5%) underperformed the broader market. Persistent concerns over the most-favored-nation (MFN) pricing model in the US and looming tariffs on biopharma products kept investors cautious. The Bellevue Emerging Markets Healthcare (LUX) Fund (-0.7%) outperformed its benchmark over the period.

JD Health (+25.7%), Rede D'Or (+24.7%), Sino Biopharm (+9.3%), WuXi Biologics (+3.8%), and BeOne Medicines (+2.3%) were among the top contributors to the fund's absolute performance. JD Health's Q2 results beat expectations, and the company raised its full-year guidance. Rede D'Or delivered a reassuring set of Q2 results, with management reaffirming confidence in both the execution of its hospital business and the newly formed health plan joint venture. Sino Biopharm reported results ahead of investor expectations and predicted double-digit revenue and EPS growth in FY 2025. WuXi Biologics released strong H1 results and raised its revenue growth guidance to 14%-16%, up from 12%-15% previously. The company continues to benefit from the surge in out-licensing deals and the growing volume of biological drugs. BeOne Medicines delivered solid results, driven by strong Brukinsa sales in blood cancer treatment.

Legend Biotech (-11.1%), Max Healthcare (-8.0%), Sun Pharma (-7.2%), Celltrion (-6.2%), and Samsung Biologics (-6.0%) were the largest detractors from the fund's absolute performance. Despite solid results, Legend Biotech saw waning investor interest as the company has few catalysts lined up post-Q2, prompting investors to shift their focus to other outperforming biotech stocks. Max Healthcare delivered mixed results, with strong revenue but weaker margins due to lower-than-expected profitability in newly acquired hospital units. Given investors' high expectations and the company's elevated valuation, the results put pressure on the stock price. The stock price of Sun Pharma came under pressure, mainly after the US announced a 50% tariff on India. Celltrion delivered largely in-line Q2 results, recovering from a sluggish Q1 while lowering guidance that had previously been viewed as aggressive. Samsung Biologics has experienced some rotation in investor interest amid the strong momentum of Chinese contract development and manufacturing organization (CDMO) competitors, particularly the WuXi companies.

All performance figures are in USD, with fund performance reported on B shares.

Positioning & outlook

Emerging markets are home to some of the world's most dynamic growth economies and more than half of the global population. By 2050, Asian emerging economies are expected to generate over 50% of global economic output. As incomes rise, many of these economies are shifting from industrial-led growth toward service-driven models. A growing middle class is fueling demand for modern medicine, as health becomes an increasingly important priority. Massive investments in infrastructure, technology, and research are accelerating the modernization of healthcare systems, broadening access to higher-quality care. At the same time, demographic shifts are adding to demand. In 25 years' time, China alone is expected to have nearly 400 million people over the age of 65, creating a significant need for advanced health services and medicines.

Beyond Asia, attractive investment opportunities are also emerging in Brazil's rapidly expanding private healthcare market. As the public healthcare system struggles with quality and long waiting times, many affluent Brazilians are increasingly turning to private providers for better services. One notable example of beneficiaries of this trend can be found in hospital chains, which are building vertically integrated ecosystems to capture sustainable long-term growth.

The fund provides defensive exposure to the above-average growth potential of emerging markets. Our investments span the entire healthcare value chain, including hospital chains, pharmaceutical and medical device manufacturers, research organizations, and digital health companies.

Risk and return profile acc. to SRI

The Fund's objective is to generate an attractive return over a long-term horizon. It is therefore particularly suited to investors with an investment horizon of at least 5 years who want to diversify their portfolio with selective exposure to the healthcare sector in emerging markets and who are willing to accept the risks typically associated with stocks in this sector.

We have classified this product as risk class 5 on a scale of 1 to 7, where 5 corresponds to a medium-high risk class. The risk of potential losses from future performance is classified as medium-high. In the event of very adverse market conditions, it is likely that the ability to execute your redemption request will be impaired. The calculation of the risk and earnings profile is based on simulated/historical data, which cannot be used as a reliable indication of the future risk profile. The classification of the fund may change in future and does not constitute a guarantee. Even a fund classed in category 1 does not constitute a completely risk-free investment. There can be no guarantee that a return will be achieved or that a substantial loss of capital will not be incurred. The overall risk exposure may have a strong impact on any return achieved by the fund or subfund. For further information please refer to the fund prospectus or PRIIP-KID.

Liquidity risk

The fund may invest some of its assets in financial instruments that may in certain circumstances reach a relatively low level of liquidity, which can have an impact on the fund's liquidity.

Risk arising from the use of derivatives

The fund may conclude derivatives transactions. This increases opportunities, but also involves an increased risk of loss.

Currency risks

The fund may invest in assets denominated in a foreign currency. Changes in the rate of exchange may have an adverse effect on prices and incomes.

Operational risks and custody risks

The fund is subject to risks due to operational or human errors, which can arise at the investment company, the custodian bank, a custodian or other third parties.

Benefits

- Access to defensive growth – emerging countries are facing aging populations and changing lifestyles.
- Development of healthcare infrastructure combined with a growing middle class is an additional growth driver.
- High growth potential of Emerging Markets.
- Attractive valuations compared with the projected medium to long-term growth.

Inherent risks

- The fund actively invests in equities. Equities are subject to price fluctuations and so are also exposed to the risk of price losses.
- Investing in Emerging Markets entails the additional risk of political and social instability.
- The fund invests in foreign currencies, which means a corresponding degree of currency risk against the reference currency.
- The fund may invest in China A equities. This entails the risk of supervisory changes, volume caps and operating restrictions which may lead to a higher counterparty risk.
- The fund may invest a proportion of its assets in financial instruments that might under certain circumstances have a relatively low level of liquidity, which can in turn affect the fund's liquidity.

You can find a detailed presentation of the risks faced by this fund in the "Special Investment Risks" section of the sales prospectus.
