Investment Manager Information

Hermes Investment Management Limited

Responsibility: a core value

Hermes Investment Management Limited is an active asset manager seeking to deliver excellent, long-term, risk adjusted performance – responsibly. We strive to lead the debate and contribute to the transformation of the investment industry for the benefit of our clients, their stakeholders and, where possible, society at large.

Our agenda and activities are driven by the long-term objectives of our clients' beneficiaries and we act in their interests.

Responsibility in practice

We have a comprehensive programme to ensure our responsibility approach and activities are integrated seamlessly in our funds and stewardship service. This includes:

- Delivering enduring, responsible performance within the terms of the fund, taking into account all material investment factors including material environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors ensuring that we are informed by these considerations.
- Acting as a responsible, engaged, long-term steward of investments encompassing constructive dialogue and taking action where necessary.
- Engaging with public policy makers and industry bodies to encourage a responsible economy.

At Federated Hermes Limited (“FHL”), the parent company of Hermes Investment Management Limited, we integrate relevant and material ESG considerations and engagement insights into our investment processes in all of our products, across all asset classes. The public-equities and fixed-income teams supplement fundamental financial analysis with information provided through a range of proprietary ESG and engagement tools. Through these tools, along with additional engagement insights, the teams have access to third-party ESG data, such as MSCI, Sustainalytics, Trucost, ISS, Planetrics, CDP, Net Purpose and Bloomberg, as well as insights from engagement carried out by FHL's subsidiary EOS at Federated Hermes (“EOS”) with investee companies and the broader investable universe. These sources are a valuable input to the investment process, as well as to the ongoing monitoring of and engagement with companies.

For public markets, FHL's proprietary ESG tools are of particular note:

- Our ESG Dashboard includes our proprietary Quantitative ESG (QESG) Score and identifies stocks with positive ESG characteristics and/or stocks demonstrating positive ESG change. The QESG score captures how a company manages its ESG risks.
- The Portfolio Snapshot allows us to observe the aggregate ESG risks across our portfolios relative to their benchmarks. It also examines ESG ratings and controversies and identifies contingent risks. Our portfolio managers use this tool to evaluate a strategy's ESG performance over time. It also provides insights into engagement and the progress made, and our voting choices relative to the benchmark.
- Our Carbon Tool enables fund managers and engagers to identify carbon risks in portfolios and companies that currently exist or may develop in the future. Importantly, the tool incorporates our stewardship activity and intelligence and is able to identify companies that are priorities for engagement and their progress against environmental objectives.
- Our Environmental Tool assesses both portfolios and companies on their carbon, water and waste performance. It also looks to quantify the environmental cost of the impact via the following six lenses; carbon, water, waste, air pollutants, land/water pollutants and natural resource use. In addition, we have incorporated exposures to carbon intensive sectors; namely fossil fuels, mining and thermal coal. This tool also incorporates our stewardship activities with a focus on environmental engagement at both portfolio level and company level.
- Our Corporate Governance Tool provides a breakdown of corporate governance characteristics, such as information on board independence, diversity and audit tenure, etc. This tool compares the governance of companies to the expectations we have set and flags any companies that do not meet the expected standard.

EOS, which provides stewardship services in public equity and fixed income markets, is a global market leader in voting and engagement with both companies and public policy makers. The team makes voting recommendations over 13,000 company meetings and actively engages with more than 1,000 (core engagement programme for 2024 is around 320) companies a year at executive and board level on a range of issues including board governance, executive remuneration, risk management, business strategy, corporate culture, carbon, pollution, water stress, labour, and community rights. We are also active participants in a wide range of public policy discussions and our Chief Executive, Saker Nusseibeh, founded the 300 Club, an independent forum for discussion and debate about the responsibilities of the investment industry.

Whilst the responsibility for implementation resides with all FHL personnel, the ESG and engagement integration programme is led, coordinated and supported by the FHL Responsibility Office: a Head of Responsibility reporting to FHL CEO, a policy and advocacy team and an ESG integration team. The Head of Responsibility also leads EOS, Federated Hermes' third party stewardship service.

Federated Investment Counseling

About the Investment Manager

Federated Investment Counseling and other subsidiaries of Federated Hermes combined, advise a range of equity, fixed-income and money market mutual funds as well as a variety of other pooled investment vehicles, private investment companies, and customised separately managed accounts (including non-U.S./offshore funds), which totalled approximately $782.7 billion in assets as of 30 June 2024. Federated Hermes was established in 1955 as Federated Investors, Inc., and is one of the largest investment managers in the United States with more than 2,000 employees. Federated Hermes provides investment products to more than 10,000 investment professionals and institutions. The Investment Manager advises approximately 131 institutional separate accounts, private investment companies, separately managed accounts and other pooled investment vehicles (including sub-advised funds and non-U.S./offshore funds) which totalled approximately $209.7 billion in assets as of 30 June 2024.

In December 2017, Federated Investors, Inc., now Federated Hermes, Inc., parent company to Federated Investment Counseling, became a signatory to the Principles for Responsible Investment ("PRI"). The PRI is an investor initiative in partnership with the United Nations Environment Programme Finance Initiative and the United Nations Global Compact. Commitments made as a signatory to the PRI are not legally binding, but are voluntary and aspirational. They include efforts, where consistent with our fiduciary responsibilities, to incorporate environmental, social and corporate governance ("ESG") issues into investment analysis and investment decision making, to be active owners and incorporate ESG issues into our ownership policies and practices, to seek appropriate disclosure on ESG issues by the entities in which we invest, to promote acceptance and implementation of the PRI within the investment industry, to enhance our effectiveness in implementing the PRI, and to report on our activities and progress towards implementing the PRI. Being a signatory to the PRI does not obligate Federated Hermes to take, or not take, any particular action as it relates to investment decisions or other activities.

Additional information regarding the security selection process

As part of analysis in its security selection process, among other factors, the Investment Manager also evaluates whether environmental, social and governance factors could have positive or negative impact on the risk profiles of many issuers or guarantors in the universe of securities in which the Fund may invest. The Investment Manager may also consider information derived from active engagements conducted by its in-house stewardship team with certain issuers or guarantors on environmental, social and governance topics. This qualitative analysis does not automatically result in including or excluding specific securities but may be used by the Investment Manager as an additional input in its primary analysis.

Market Review

The benchmark MSCI Emerging Markets Index returned 7.5% over the first half of 2024 in US Dollar terms (8.40% in sterling terms), underperforming developed markets (DM) as measured by the MSCI World Net TR index (+11.7%). Emerging market (EM) equities gained ground amid ongoing enthusiasm for artificial intelligence (AI), China's supportive policy measures and optimism on Federal Reserve (Fed) easing. Global equities continued to edge up amid signs that slowing inflation across the major developed economies would bring interest rates lower this year, increasing the chances of an economic 'soft landing', which would support corporate earnings growth and share prices.

EM growth (8.3%) outperformed EM value (6.4%) year to date and EM Equities continued to post outflows. At a regional level, EM Asia (11.0%) outperformed, while Emerging Europe, Middle East and Africa added 7.8% and Latin America (-14.7%) finished substantially lower. The majority of EM currencies depreciated against the US Dollar, notably Latin America currencies. Ongoing Middle East tensions remained, helping to push oil prices up 13.9%. Gold rose 13% and silver jumped 23%.

Turkey (39.1%), Taiwan (29.4%) and Peru (18.1%) were the best performing markets, with Egypt (-32.6%), Brazil (-18.7%) and Mexico (-15.7%) at the bottom. Turkey (39.1%) posted the highest returns in EM, helped by optimism that economic policy will remain orthodox as the central bank continued to increase interest rates. Asia emerged as the best-performing region within the EM landscape, particularly Taiwan (29.4%), home of TSMC, driven by on-going investor enthusiasm for AI-related stocks and technology companies. Indian (16.9%) equities continued higher, as Prime Minister Modi's Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP)-led National Democratic Alliance retained its parliamentary majority, although the BJP lost its single-party majority. In China (4.7%), optimism surrounding additional easing measures and better economic activity data helped the stock market rebound from five-year lows touched in January. Nevertheless, lacklustre domestic demand and the ongoing property market crisis continued to weigh on investor sentiment.

Brazil (-18.7%) led Latin America lower as its central bank flagged caution on future interest rate cuts, while flooding in Brazil's southern state of Rio Grande do Sul prompted investor concerns about economic growth, fiscal spending and inflation. Mexico also fell -15.6%, a result of the Q2 selloff primarily related to Claudia Sheinbaum's election as president in June and her Morena party's supermajority in Congress raising concerns about power-concentration, undermining autonomous institutions and anchoring spending programmes that could jeopardise public finances and curb future investments.

Sector returns remained highly divergent. Information Technology jumped 22.2% to finish the period on top by some way, followed by Energy (10.4%) and Utilities (10.0%). Health Care (-8.7%), Consumer Staples (-7.1%), Materials (-6.4%) and Real Estate (-3.3%) finished in negative territory.

Investment Strategy

Early in the year, the team trimmed Alibaba to fund new holdings in:

- ASMPT, involved in advanced packaging equipment.
- Hansol Chemical, a Korean company supplying specialist gases, chemicals and precursors to chip manufacturers.
- Wheaton Precious Metals, a pioneer in the streaming of gold and other precious metals, financing some of miners' capital expenditure in return for a share of future production.

The team bought Samsung Life, Korea's largest life insurer and partially switched to the preference shares (which were trading at a larger-than-usual discount relative to the local shares) of Samsung Electronics. They opened a position in Kanzhun, a Chinese recruitment services provider and Kingsoft, a Hong Kong holding company with businesses including Kingsoft Office, a Chinese word-processing software provider. In Q2, they added Singapore Telecommunications (SingTel) as a means to get exposure to emerging Asian telecom companies with strong structural growth stories at a discount. They added Zhongsheng, China's largest luxury retailer, at an attractive valuation following a tough trading environment since 2021.

They sold Alibaba, reducing the China overweight to ~2.5% (including a non-benchmark position in Prosus), as the company is losing market share, amid headwinds for its cloud business, as Chinese telecom companies prioritise domestic state operators, limiting opportunity for private players and with the recently announced US$4.5bn convertible bond issuance to fund share-repurchases deemed not to represent a sensible capital management strategy. They sold Chailease, a Taiwan-based company principally engaged in traditional leasing and instalment payment services, due to worse-than-expected non-performing loans in mainland China and Taiwan and delay to a China tax rebate. They sold Hero Motorcorp, a leading manufacturer of two-wheelers and scooters in India, following strong performance. They recently trimmed several technology holdings following strong performance, including TSMC, Micron, Lotes and Wiwynn, resulting in a 100 basis points (bps) reduction in the overweight allocation to Information Technology.

Performance Review

The Fund returned 8.93% in sterling terms, net of fees, over the period, outperforming the benchmark MSCI Emerging Markets Index, which returned 8.40%, by 50bps.

Outperformance was driven by country allocation, notably a non-benchmark allocation to the United States (a result of bottom-up selection) and avoiding Saudi Arabia and Thailand, which underperformed. Stock selection in Taiwan, South Africa and Chile contributed, eclipsing weaker selection in China and South Korea. At the sector level, the allocation to Information Technology, the best-performing sector year to date and selection within, contributed the most to relative returns.

Micron, one of three leading manufacturers of memory chips, was the biggest individual contributor to relative returns. Micron rose on its financial year Q2 2024 results, beating market estimates on strong memory price hikes. Both sales and earnings were materially ahead of expectations (including guidance), with profitability ramping fast and ahead of forecasts. Supply/demand balances continue to tighten, leading to an increase in average selling prices (ASPs), further magnified by rapid growth in high bandwidth memory (HBM) where ASPs are 10 times those of traditional dynamic random-access memory (DRAM). TSMC, Taiwan's semiconductor foundry, rose as it is increasingly seen as the key enabler for AI semiconductors, given its technology leadership. Nvidia announced its next generation 'Blackwell' platform adopting more advanced packaging structures, expected to drive greater Dollar content for TSMC. Samvardhana Motherson International Limited (SAMIL), a global auto-component supplier, rose on strong results beat, aided by a healthy demand environment across all business segments and geographies.

Shares in AIA, a life insurer in the Asia region, fell as China's macroeconomic challenges continued to weigh on investor sentiment. AIA has a market-leading agency distribution, an expansion strategy in mainland China and recently announced a capital management plan expected to return US$12bn to shareholders in financial year 2024 through buybacks and dividend payouts. Centre Testing, a Chinese testing services provider, fell due to subdued demand for life science, industrial and medical testing amid weak economic conditions. Shenzhen Inovance, a Chinese manufacturer of components for automation, fell due to declining energy sales, notably a result of the downturn in solar-driven demand and pressure on pricing.

Outlook

There have been several interesting developments in emerging markets this year that reinforce our view they are on a solid foundation with credible drivers of future growth. Elections in India, Indonesia and South Africa are reassuring for policy continuity and there is potential for acceleration in reforms in South Africa. While there was volatility post the election in Mexico, it is likely that the new government will take a market-friendly approach on issues that matter most to investors. Korea's corporate 'value up' programme could provide a helpful tailwind for many Korean companies if it is implemented well and the potential to address the Korean discount. China continues to support its property sector, while pursuing SOE reforms and its transition towards a higher value-added economy. There is a strong possibility that Brazil will maintain fiscal prudence, while the outlook for several commodities remains benign.

Outlook (continued)

Positive policy action in many emerging economies could translate into a conducive environment for businesses to operate and flourish. The team prioritises investments in good-quality companies with a proven ability to compound their value over a long period of time, with drivers that will help them grow structurally, with low leverage levels and which trade at reasonable valuations. Companies with these characteristics will be best placed to outperform in a world that may well see higher-for-longer and more volatile interest rates, slower growth and more geopolitical uncertainty.

Federated Hermes Global High Yield Credit Fund

Market Review

Inflation, growth and geopolitical tensions remained key themes that investors had to navigate over the first half of the year. With central banks and financial markets continuing to be heavily data driven and macroeconomic indicators trending down in a slow and non-linear fashion, interest rates volatility continued to impact asset class performance meaningfully.

The inflation versus growth narrative has been especially difficult to navigate in the US, where the labour market has been strong and GDP growth in expansionary territory, while inflation prints, although trending downwards, have remained above target. This meant the Federal Reserve (Fed) could not deliver a single rate cut over the period and investors continued to reprice the timing and magnitude of expected rate cuts.

That said, there was a contrasting picture in Europe, where growth remained much weaker compared with the US and inflation numbers have come down more significantly. In this context, the European Central Bank (ECB) delivered its first rate cut since the pandemic, lowering its deposit rate by 25 basis points (bps) to 3.75%. Political developments were also back in focus from June, as the results of European Parliamentary elections triggered a surprise snap election by French president Macron, leading to a major selloff in French assets. The spread (difference in yield) between the French and German 10-year government bond yields widened by 29bps to 80bps in the week after the election announcement, its biggest weekly widening since the Euro sovereign debt crisis in 2011.

Finally, geopolitical tensions continued to impact risk sentiment, especially at the start of the quarter, with worries of a broader escalation of the conflict in the Middle East spurring oil prices to a high of US$92/bbl during the period (falling back again towards the end of the quarter as no escalation occurred).

Investment Strategy

As corporate bond spreads continued to tighten further over the period, we took profit in credit issuers that had reached fairly rich valuations, while reducing maturities in select high-quality issuers that offered a flat credit curve (short-term and long-term bonds having no significant yield differences). This enabled us to increase our positioning in certain capital structures that presented a more attractive pick-up in spread, as well as to complete switches from credit default swaps (CDS) to cash bonds.

Over Q2, we continued to work on several risk rotations, opting for longer dated bonds of issuers we like in the autos and capital good sectors. We were also active in rotating the Fund's subordinated financials book through the new issue market, adding new additional tier 1 (AT1) securities which came to the market with attractive coupons. To make room, the Fund lightened up exposure to several older AT1 securities that had performed strongly year to date. Finally, the Fund took profit on a portion of its position in US retail company Macy's on the back of a 100bps spread rally since mid-April, which reduced the relative value of the position.

Performance Review

The Federated Hermes Global High Yield Credit Fund (net of fees, EUR F Acc) generated a return of +2.21% in the first half of 2024, underperforming its benchmark by 51bps.

The Fund's overweight allocations to banking and telecoms, as well as an underweight allocation to media, were among the key contributors to relative performance over the period. However, the Fund offset some of this through underweight exposures to the Energy, Health Care and Real Estate sectors.

At an individual holdings level, the Fund's lack of exposure to Altice, as well as overweight allocations to Liberty Global and ING Group, boosted relative performance the most. Meanwhile, its overweight positioning in Ardagh Group and a lack of exposure to Pemex and Bausch Health, were the largest detractors.

At a regional level, an overweight allocation to Western Europe, the UK and Africa boosted relative performance. However, this was offset by underweight allocations to North America, Latin America and Asia, detracting from relative returns.

From a credit-quality perspective, an overweight position in BBB-rated securities was beneficial, adding to the Fund's relative returns, while the most significant laggard was an underweight allocation to B-rated securities and below.

Outlook

Consensus continues to expect that growth will moderate through H2 but remain above trend. Much of this positive outlook hinges on consumption growth driven by growing real incomes and supported by positive wealth effects and strong labour markets. Inflation is expected to slowly make its way back to target, with goods disinflation doing the heavy lifting, while services remains well above pre-pandemic levels. This view of a 'soft landing' scenario is accepted and well-priced, but there are still risks to be mindful of. These include the rise in political volatility, uncertainty around the growth outlook, growing deficits, geopolitics and how higher-for-longer rates impact growth expectations and risk markets.

Corporate credit fundamentals remain healthy, with earnings holding up as cost pressures are easing and an earnings recovery is expected in the second half of the year. Interest coverage and leverage levels have slightly worsened, but from a strong base. Default rates have decreased to 1.79% for US high yield in June and 1.89% for European high yield in April, remaining well below long-term averages. Distressed transactions in the US have started to increase and totalled US$8.9bn in May, the third-highest monthly total for distressed exchanges on record.

Our near-term outlook favours exposure to high-quality bonds with selective exposure to B-/CCC-rated credit, a focus on low-cash-price bonds and a reduction in overall spread duration and we continue to be positioned in defensive sectors. Yields remain attractive and, as rates volatility continues to normalise, we would expect this part of the credit market to outperform. Lastly, we continue to believe that seamless integration of ESG and sustainability considerations coupled with active engagement is critical to sustainable long-term performance.

Federated Hermes US SMID Equity Fund

Market Review

The Russell 2500 Index Net rose by 1.47% in sterling terms over the period and 2.35% in US Dollar terms on a gross basis (unless otherwise stated, all subsequent returns are quoted in US Dollars).

Global equity markets made a promising start to 2024 as resilient economic data buoyed the market's hopes for an economic 'soft landing'. US equities were one of the top performers of the first quarter, thanks to its growth bias, strong corporate earnings and, in particular, the stellar performance of the 'Magnificent Seven' stocks. The second quarter began with apprehension as a hotter-than-anticipated inflation and a preliminary US GDP print forced the market to reassess the pace of interest rate cuts from the Federal Reserve (Fed). This caused global equity markets to decline and the US lagged its regional peers in April. Optimism returned in May, thanks to a moderate decline in inflation from 3.4% to 3.3% year-on-year. Despite the Fed's hawkish tone at its June meeting, investors are once again hopeful for policy easing. The economic backdrop in the US remains supportive and the first quarter earnings season has seen companies broadly beat expectations across sectors, which boosted returns. Enthusiasm for artificial intelligence (AI) linked companies continued throughout the first half of 2024, which has resulted in a very narrow market. The S&P 500 returned 15.29%, while its equal weighted counterpart returned 5.07%.

Within US SMID, Utilities (15.03%) and Technology (6.60%) were the best performing sectors, with Telecommunications (-11.57%) and Real Estate (-3.68%) lagging.

Investment Strategy

The Fund continued to seek high-quality companies with attractive upside potential and to trim positions in what we believed were fully-valued stocks (or stocks that were set to be negatively impacted by the changing landscape).

Performance Review

The Fund returned 3.48% in net sterling terms, outperforming the benchmark by 198bps over the period. The outperformance was driven by stock selection in Financials, Technology and Health Care and our overweight in Industrials. These more than offset the negative impact from our selection in Industrials.

Teradyne, Vericel and Reinsurance Group of America (RGA) were the strongest individual contributors to performance over the period. Teradyne rose after announcing better-than-expected Q1 2024 results and improved guidance. The positive results reflected the strong demand for memory and networking-related products, which was driven by AI applications. Vericel rose after its preliminary Q4 revenue estimates were better than expected. This was driven by strong demand for its cartilage repair product, which uses a patient's own cells to repair damaged cartilage and restore function. RGA rose after releasing quarterly results that exceeded expectations. The stellar results benefitted from tailwinds tied to solid premium momentum, higher interest rates and sound capital management. RGA is benefitting from its position as a global leader and has seen strong demand for its reinsurance products in Asia and meaningful growth in pension transfers and longevity risks.

AMN Healthcare, Brunswick and Silicon Laboratories were the largest individual detractors from performance over the period. AMN Healthcare fell after posting worse-than-expected quarterly results and a disappointing outlook. Brunswick declined after its Q2 and 2024 full-year forecasts were below expectations. The share price was also affected by the impact of the higher-for-longer interest rate environment on the US consumer. Silicon Laboratories fell after its quarterly forecast was worse than expected. The stock then rallied following an analyst upgrade which highlighted that the company is well positioned for the semi-conductor cyclical recovery. The underperformance continued, however, as the inventory destocking cycle has depressed shipments. Management still has limited visibility on revenues, although we believe we are close to a recovery.

Outlook

The US market remained reasonably robust in the face of increased geo-political and economic concerns throughout 2023 and 2024. The significant uncertainty surrounding the economic outlook was, we believe, reflected in stock prices. Stickier-than-anticipated inflation has resulted in the market reassessing its rate cut expectations. However, we believe the underlying economy remains robust, rates will 'grind lower' over time and the environment remains supportive of high-quality, cashflow-generative, sensibly valued companies that the strategy invests in.

Federated Hermes Asia ex-Japan Equity Fund

Market Review

The benchmark MSCI AC Asia ex-Japan IMI Index returned 9.51% over the first half of 2024 in US Dollar terms (10.43% in sterling terms) amid ongoing enthusiasm for artificial intelligence (AI) and a nascent rebound in Chinese stocks. Most Asian currencies depreciated against the US Dollar. In US Dollar terms, crude oil prices gained 26% and gold 13% amid ongoing tensions in the Middle East and predictions of a cut in US interest rates. Weakness in China's economy kept the prices of other key commodities down, including iron ore, copper and coal. Asia ex-Japan growth stocks rose 10.2%, outpacing their value counterparts which rose 6.8%.

The tech-driven rally in the US extended to other regions, particularly to Asia, where Taiwan, home of Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company (TSMC), outperformed, driven by ongoing investor enthusiasm for AI-related stocks. Indian equities continued higher, as Prime Minister Modi's Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP)-led National Democratic Alliance retained its (reduced) parliamentary majority. China rallied from its January trough as cautious buyers emerged, amid optimism over the authorities' support for the housing sector, later tempered by a corruption crackdown in key cities. South Korean stocks underperformed amid investor disappointment over underwhelming government initiatives targeting poor corporate governance. Thailand and Indonesia lagged the most.

At the sector level, Information Technology, Energy and Utilities performed best, with Real Estate, Health Care and Consumer Staples lagging.

Investment Strategy

Our key overweight allocations remained Korea and China, while our key underweight position was India. Our allocation is derived from bottom-up stock selection.

We sold Cathay Pacific, PICC Property & Casualty, Samsung SDS, Sinopharm, Honda Motor, E-Mart, Hon Hai Precision Industry, China National Building Materials, Hansoh Pharmaceutical and Alibaba.

We reinitiated a position in Nexon, a Japanese gaming company and opened a position in Xiaomi Corporation, a Chinese consumer electronics company and second-largest smartphone manufacturer.

Performance Review

The Fund returned 9.06% in GBP terms (net of fees) over the period, underperforming the benchmark MSCI AC Asia ex Japan IMI Index by 125 basis points (bps). This was mainly as a result of the overweight allocations to Korea, China and Thailand, which underperformed and underweight positions in Taiwan and India, which outperformed. Stock selection in Thailand also detracted from relative returns. This was partially offset by stock selection in Korea, China, Taiwan and India.

Brilliance China Automotive, a Chinese automobile manufacturer, rose following an announcement of a special dividend. Samsung Fire & Marine, a Korean insurer, rose after it reported strong quarterly results that beat consensus expectations and amid prospects of more shareholder-friendly policies. KB Financial, a Korean bank, rose as professional managers began to implement more shareholder-friendly policies. KB Financial has no controlling shareholders and thus a board of directors responsive to the needs of all shareholders.

Our underweight allocation to TSMC, the world's leading semiconductor foundry, detracted most from our relative return as it continued to rise amid optimism over demand for AI chips. Baidu, China's leading search company, fell on concerns of continued weakness in advertising. Swatch Group, a Swiss luxury watch manufacturer that generates most of its revenue in Asia, fell amid weakening luxury good sales.

Outlook

Chinese stocks continue to trade at near record cheap valuations, with Korean stocks also offering exceptional value. We are positive about the prospects of stocks from both countries.

Federated Hermes Global Equity ESG Fund

Market Review

Global equity markets posted strong returns in H1 2024 reflected in the 12.24% return of the MSCI All Country World Index in sterling terms. H1 has been a period of two-halves: Q1 was broadly positive, but Q2 was more challenging, despite the positive return. Q1 was driven, in a large part, by the US and Japan, the strength in the US supported by investors continuing to back last year's winners, a strong earnings season and ongoing expectations of interest rate cuts.

In Japan, the Nikkei 225 reached an all-time high (in local currency) boosted by better-than-expected earnings and optimism around the economic cycle, coupled with modest inflation, a weakening currency and a shift to positive rates. It has since retreated modestly as long-term rates increased and valuations looked comparatively full. Asia ex Japan lagged, driven by Hong Kong, which was affected by continued pessimism towards China's economy. There was a brief improvement in fortunes in April, but that has since disappeared. Despite some encouraging economic data from China, domestic demand remains weak and the challenges in the property market that have impacted sentiment are yet to be resolved.

Expectations for interest rate cuts moderated significantly in the US at the start of Q2, which affected sentiment. But optimism returned in May thanks to stronger corporate earnings in the US and reassuring economic data which highlighted the reacceleration of the European economy. Notably, by the end of H1, market breadth narrowed significantly as a small cohort of stocks, led by artificial intelligence (AI) focused mega cap companies, moved materially higher.

From a factor viewpoint, our Alpha Model has performed well so far this year, which has been a key reason why the Fund has outperformed over the year-to-date. Sentiment was particularly strong at the start of the year, reflecting the preference for many of last year's winners, particularly those that had exposure to AI or obesity, where the Fund has exposure through the likes of Nvidia and Novo Nordisk.

Outside of sentiment, there has been little consistency. Growth was preferred earlier in Q1, with investors focused on company outlook statements, judging by the strength of forecast revenue and earnings growth. Profitability was also an important feature, particularly in respect of improving operating and gross margins, which had a consistently positive influence in Q1. Valuation then came to the fore as we entered Q2 against a backdrop of moderating rate expectations in the US. Since then, factor returns have been fairly muted, particularly in May, although we have seen some volatility within sentiment and valuation in recent weeks.

Investment Strategy

The investment approach remains focused on stock selection, with neutral sector and regional biases. The Global Equity ESG Fund uses systematic fundamental analysis to assess the attractiveness of over 5,000 stocks on a daily basis. This analysis involves a disciplined, bottom-up stock selection process, which is based on well-documented anomalies and trends in investor behaviour. The strategy aims to take advantage of systematic behavioural biases of market participants, while remaining cognisant of the risks associated with the modelling of such behavior.

We determine fair value for a stock by using metrics from a company's financial statements. Our modelling incorporates a wide variety of stock characteristics (often referred to as factors) designed to proxy expected investment returns and the behaviour of market participants. ESG is embedded in the Alpha model, using the team's proprietary QESG Score, which enables the team to identify stocks that have good or improving ESG characteristics. The Fund's multi-factor approach ensures it remains exposed to a range of styles, with the aim of generating consistent outperformance over the long term. We closely monitor the performance of each factor, with the aim of building stock selection models that deliver consistent and sustainable excess returns.

Portfolio modelling is utilised in the portfolio construction process to trade-off between expected return and portfolio risk, allowing for both portfolio constraints and transaction costs. The process is further supplemented by portfolio exposure analysis, using our proprietary risk modelling system, MultiFRAME, which allows the team to assess the Fund's exposure to any quantifiable risk factor.

Unlike traditional quantitative strategies, analysis is also completed on a disciplined, subjective, stock-level basis. The team uses its extensive experience to challenge the output of the investment model and remove trades subject to significant non-quantifiable factors or unreliable inputs. The team also works closely with EOS, our in-house stewardship team, which votes on and engages with companies on our behalf and works with us to further understand the ESG risks and opportunities facing each company.

Performance Review

The Global Equity ESG F GBP Accumulating share class returned 15.18% over H1 2024, outperforming the MSCI ACWI Net, which returned 12.24%, by 261 basis points (bps). Stock selection was the main influence on relative returns over the period, with significant contributions from Information Technology, Industrials, Consumer Discretionary, Consumer Staples and Financials, which outweighed the detraction from Communication Services. From a regional viewpoint, successful selection in Europe and North America outweighed the detraction from Japan.

Novo Nordisk, ASML and Trane Technologies contributed the most to relative returns. Novo Nordisk reported strong results, driven by its drug Ozempic, as it continues to benefit from positive dynamics in the obesity market, particularly in the US. ASML reported decent Q4 results, with the company highlighting very strong order intake, driven by its extreme ultraviolet radiation (EUV) business. Trane Technologies reported strong Q1 results as it continued seeing strength in commercial heating, ventilation and air conditioning (HVAC), while the residential market showed signs of improvement.

Within the portfolio, Exact Sciences, Zoetis and Weyerhaeuser were the largest detractors from relative returns. There was also a significant detraction from not owning Meta Platforms. Exact Sciences' Q1 results were slightly better than expected, but Q2 guidance was lower than anticipated, making its 2024 guidance, which remained unchanged, harder to achieve. Zoetis reported mixed results, with disappointment in its companion animals division. It was also affected by the rotation into value in March. Weyerhaeuser has been impacted by falling lumber prices, while the higher-for-longer rate environment has further eroded sentiment.

Outlook

Heading into H2, the traditional summer lull in trading volumes is likely to heighten volatility. This could be exacerbated by the political environment, especially as little central bank action is expected. Already we have seen surprises in India and Mexico and gains for the populists in the European elections. The UK was a foregone conclusion, but the looming US Presidential race could cause some near-term turbulence.

While there has been much focus on the resurgence of (most of) the Magnificent Seven stocks, there has been significant dispersion within sectors, suggesting that fundamentals have mattered. We expect that to remain the case, but set against a market that broadens to a more normal level. Earnings comparisons for the winners will make it harder to achieve similar levels of growth, which should draw attention to other areas of the market that have perhaps flown under the radar. In addition, once we are through the US election, the rate environment should also point towards a broadening of the opportunity set.

Our strategy is to seek a diverse range of companies with attractive combinations of fundamental characteristics, with exposures across most of the universe and style spectrum. While markets could be choppy over the coming months, our expectation that the market starts to broaden and fundamentals remain important gives us cause for optimism.

Federated Hermes Global Small Cap Equity Fund

Market Review

Small cap stocks, as represented by the MSCI World Small Cap Net Index (the benchmark for the Fund), returned 2.35% in sterling terms and 1.49% in US Dollars (all subsequent returns, unless specified, are quoted in US Dollars). This compares to the returns from the equivalent large and mid-cap indices of 13.23% and 3.64% respectively.

Global equities rose over the first half of 2024 as resilient economic data buoyed the market's hopes for a soft landing. Following a strong start, the second quarter began with apprehension as stickier-than-anticipated inflation prints forced the market to reassess the start and pace of cuts from central banks, while geopolitical tensions in the Middle East boosted commodities. Optimism returned in May thanks to stronger corporate earnings in the US and reassuring economic data which highlighted the reacceleration of the European economy. Enthusiasm around artificial intelligence (AI) and related companies continued and provided support to both the US and Taiwanese markets. Developed markets, large cap and growth outperformed emerging markets, small cap and value.

The best performing sectors over the period were Energy (9.39%) and Information Technology (4.07%), while Real Estate (-6.26%) and Communication Services (-3.84%) lagged.

North America (2.03%) was the strongest performing region, while Denmark (20.28%) was the strongest individual country. Pacific (-0.97) was the worst performing region and Germany (-11.44%) was the worst performing country.

Investment Strategy

The Global Small Cap Equity Fund follows a bottom-up, stock-picking strategy. The lead manager aims to invest in high-quality stocks over the long term (defined as three-to-five years+). The portfolio is relatively concentrated, with between 50 and 70 holdings. The team believes the number of holdings is adequately concentrated to provide sufficient stock-specific risk for alpha generation while being large enough to achieve the desired broad sector and regional neutrality in portfolio positioning. The team looks for stocks that have high returns on equity and/or high sustainability of revenue and returns. The strategy has historically exhibited a slight growth bias.

The approach is designed to capitalise on alpha generation opportunities among smaller companies by exploiting the inefficiencies which result from a lack of information and investor interest. There is a particular focus on uncovering undervalued quality stocks at prices below their intrinsic value. Macro factors are not taken into consideration directly, but indirectly via assumptions used in valuation models. We do not engage in thematic or momentum investing.

Performance Review

The Fund returned 3.24% in sterling terms, net of fees, over H1 2024, outperforming the benchmark by 87 basis points (bps). Stock selection was the primary driver of the outperformance, while sector allocation was also positive.

The outperformance was driven by stock selection in Industrials, Financials and Materials. These more than offset the negative impact from stock selection in Information Technology and Consumer Discretionary and our zero-weight in Energy. From a regional perspective, selection in all regions was positive, with Europe and the Middle East contributing the most to relative returns. At an individual country level, stock selection in the United States and Switzerland were positive and offset the negative impact from selection in France and Spain.

Kirby Corporation (Kirby), Clean Harbors and Palomar Holdings were the strongest individual contributors to relative returns over the period. Kirby rose after announcing Q4 and Q1 results that were better than expected and raising guidance for full-year 2024. Management expects operating margins to gradually improve during the year and average around 20% for the full year. The share price was also boosted following a broker upgrade. Clean Harbors rose after posting quarterly results which beat expectations and raised guidance. Margin improvements continue. Palomar rose after reporting strong quarterly result and increasing its 2024 guidance.

Brunswick, AMN Healthcare Services and Soitec were the largest individual detractors over the period. Brunswick declined after its Q2 and 2024 full-year forecasts were below expectations. The share price was also affected by the impact of the higher-for-longer interest rate environment on the US consumer. AMN Healthcare fell after posting worse-than-expected quarterly results and a disappointing outlook. Soitec fell after 2025 guidance was below consensus estimates. The warning was due to high levels of inventory in the value chain, which pushed the hopes of a recovery to H2 2025.

Outlook

A downturn brought on by the full impact of rising rates over the past two years is still a possibility, but it would seem that a muddling through – a period of low or no growth – remains the base case. This is driven by good, but softening, employment levels and both corporates and the consumer getting used to higher rates (which are nonetheless lower than long-term averages). On this basis, levels of M&A activity and capex are likely to be greater than they have been in the past few years and quality should do reasonably well. The market, excluding mega cap tech, has been lacklustre overall, so any correction to tech valuations will hopefully not spill over into the wider market.

Federated Hermes Absolute Return Credit Fund

Market Review

Inflation, growth and geopolitical tensions remained key themes that investors had to navigate over the first half of the year. With central banks and financial markets continuing to be heavily data driven and macroeconomic indicators trending down in a slow and non-linear fashion, interest rates volatility continued to impact asset class performance meaningfully.

The inflation versus growth narrative has been especially difficult to navigate in the US, where the labour market has been strong and GDP growth in expansionary territory, while inflation prints, although trending downwards, have remained above target. This meant the Federal Reserve (Fed) could not deliver a single rate cut over the period and investors continued to reprice the timing and magnitude of expected rate cuts.

That said, there was a contrasting picture in Europe, where growth remained much weaker compared with the US and inflation numbers have come down more significantly. In this context, the European Central Bank (ECB) delivered its first rate cut since the pandemic, lowering its deposit rate by 25 basis points (bps) to 3.75%. Political developments were also back in focus from June, as the results of European Parliamentary elections triggered a surprise snap election by French president Macron, leading to a major selloff in French assets. The spread (difference in yield) between the French and German 10-year government bond yields widened by 29bps to 80bps in the week after the election announcement, its biggest weekly widening since the Euro sovereign debt crisis in 2011.

Finally, geopolitical tensions continued to impact risk sentiment, especially at the start of the quarter, with worries of a broader escalation of the conflict in the Middle East spurring oil prices to a high of US$92/bbl during the period (falling back again towards the end of the quarter as no escalation occurred).

Investment Strategy

As corporate bond spreads continued to tighten further over the period, we took profit in credit issuers that had reached fairly rich valuations, while reducing maturities in select high-quality issuers that offered a flat credit curve (short-term and long-term bonds having no significant yield differences). This enabled us to increase our positioning in certain capital structures that presented a more attractive pick-up in spread, as well as to complete switches from credit default swaps (CDS) to cash bonds.

In addition, activity within the hedge overlay focused on terming out and re-striking our options positions following the continued grind tighter in credit spreads. Despite having risen a little in January, implied volatility declined over the period and reinforced our view on the attractiveness of tail protection. Within structured credit, primary market activity remained strong, with valuations still attractive across the ratings spectrum. We favoured AAA-rated bonds, which have not rallied as much as other parts of the capital structure since the beginning of the year.

Lastly, rates volatility remains intense amid speculation on the timing and magnitude of policy changes, but the Fund remained neutral to slightly long duration (a measure of sensitivity of a bond's price to a change of interest rates) overall, with a preference for UK gilts. The Fund also took the opportunity to add a curve steepening position, with the expectation that short-term rates would fall faster than long-term ones. We have also kept a short position on French government bonds, with the fiscal deficit in France a key concern which could negatively impact sovereign bonds.

Performance Review

The Fund returned 2.23% (net of fees, F USD acc share class) over the first half of 2024.

By sector, the period was broadly positive, with the Fund's allocations to banking, collateralised loan obligations (CLOs) and retail the top contributors to absolute returns, while the only marginal detractor was the Health Care sector.

On an issuer basis, allocations to Intesa Sanpaolo, Marks & Spencer and Rabobank were key contributors. In contrast, exposure to Ardagh Group, Charter Communications and Abbvie were the largest detractors.

From a regional perspective, all allocations contributed positively, with Western Europe, North America and the UK contributing the most.

From a ratings perspective, the Fund's exposure to BBB- and BB-rated securities added the most to performance through the period and there were no noteworthy detractors.

Outlook

Consensus continues to expect that growth will moderate through H2 but remain above trend. Much of this positive outlook hinges on consumption growth driven by growing real incomes and supported by positive wealth effects and strong labour markets. Inflation is expected to slowly make its way back to target, with goods disinflation doing the heavy lifting, while services remains well above pre-pandemic levels. This view of a 'soft landing' scenario is accepted and well-priced, but there are still risks to be mindful of. These include the rise in political volatility, uncertainty around the growth outlook, growing deficits, geopolitics and how higher-for-longer rates impact growth expectations and risk markets.

Corporate credit fundamentals remain healthy, with earnings holding up as cost pressures are easing and an earnings recovery is expected in the second half of the year. Interest coverage and leverage levels have slightly worsened, but from a strong base. Default rates have decreased to 1.79% for US high yield in June and 1.89% for European high yield in April, remaining well below long-term averages. Distressed transactions in the US have started to increase and totalled US$8.9bn in May, the third-highest monthly total for distressed exchanges on record.

Our near-term outlook favours exposure to high-quality bonds with selective exposure to B-/CCC-rated credit, a focus on low-cash-price bonds and a reduction in overall spread duration and we continue to be positioned in defensive sectors. Yields remain attractive and, as rates volatility continues to normalise, we would expect this part of the credit market to outperform. Lastly, we continue to believe that seamless integration of ESG and sustainability considerations coupled with active engagement is critical to sustainable long-term performance.

Small and mid-cap stocks, as represented by the MSCI World ACWI SMID net index (an all-country index which includes emerging markets) returned 3.70% over the first half of 2024 in sterling terms and 2.83% in the US Dollar base currency of the benchmark (all subsequent returns are quoted on this basis). This compares with increases for equivalent large caps of 13.09% and 15.29% for the S&P 500.

Global equities rose over the first half of 2024 as resilient economic data buoyed the market's hopes for an economic 'soft landing'. Following a strong start, the second quarter began with apprehension as stickier-than-anticipated inflation prints forced the market to reassess the pace and start of interest rate cuts from central banks, while geopolitical tensions in the Middle East boosted commodities. Energy (10.28%) and Utilities (6.89%) were the best performing sectors. Real Estate (-5.61%) was the worst performing sector, followed by Health Care (-2.00%).

Emerging market (EM) Europe, Middle East and Africa was the best performing region, returning 8.61% whereas EM Latin America was the worst, returning -15.89%.

Investment Strategy

The SDG Engagement Fund is a small and mid-cap investment product that aims to produce above-benchmark investment return while also delivering a positive social and environmental impact.

The investment team seeks to invest in high-quality stocks with an engagement thesis with a long-term investment horizon. The team also analyses companies to establish which of the UN's Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) apply to each potential investment and what more a company could do in order to contribute to those goals.

The team will then engage with the management teams of the respective companies that have been chosen for inclusion in the Fund to encourage companies to, for example, change business practices, manage their supply chain better, or develop new products that have been identified by the team as necessary to improve progress towards the goals. Furthermore, the team, in collaboration with EOS, the stewardship part of the business, helps to facilitate this by communicating industry best practice, advising on reporting and disclosure and, where relevant, introducing third parties to assist companies in their efforts.

The investment process is based on bottom-up fundamental analysis. The team believes that excess returns are strongest and most consistently generated, by concentrating on stock-specific risks and not by taking significant regional or sectoral positions. This is reflected in the Fund's risk profile, which is skewed towards stock selection, to maximise the portfolio's exposure to the team's stock analysis, including SDG impact. The investment team has extensive local market knowledge and operates on a regional basis.

Each potential holding is subject to rigorous due diligence, which results in both an investment and an engagement thesis. The latter will detail the proposed ongoing engagement activity together with appropriate milestones. This will then be further enhanced and, following discussion with company management, will be formalised into a plan for monitoring. The impact from engagement is measured and reported on a semi-annual basis.

Performance Review

The Fund returned -0.19% over H1 2024 in sterling terms, underperforming the benchmark by 375 basis points (bps).

Stock selection, sector allocation and currency were negative over the period. However, stock selection was the primary driver of the underperformance. Stock selection in Consumer Discretionary, Information Technology, Industrials and Health Care and our zero-weight in Energy detracted from relative returns. These offset the positive impact from stock selection in Consumer Staples and Financials and our underweight in Real Estate.

Regionally, stock selection in North America detracted, but selection in EM Latin America and EM Asia contributed.

At the stock level, the greatest contributors were Reinsurance Group of America (RGA), Varun Beverages and Clean Harbors. RGA rose after releasing quarterly results that exceeded expectations, due to tailwinds tied to solid premium momentum, higher interest rates and sound capital management. RGA is benefitting from its position as a global leader and has seen strong demand for its reinsurance products in Asia and meaningful growth in pension transfers and longevity risks. Varun Beverages rose following an analyst upgrade. The report highlighted Varun's ability to scale its operations both domestically and internationally and that the company's strong profitability should help it continue to exceed the growth rates of peers in the food and beverage industry. The share-price also benefitted after a number of brokers reiterated their buy/overweight ratings and raised their target price. Clean Harbors rose after posting quarterly results which beat expectations and raised guidance. Margin improvements continue.

Brunswick, Soitec and AMN Healthcare Services were the top three stock-level detractors. Brunswick declined after its Q2 and 2024 full-year forecasts were below expectations. The share price was also affected by the impact of the higher-for-longer interest rate environment on the US consumer. Soitec fell after 2025 guidance was below consensus estimates. The warning was due to high levels of inventory in the value chain, which pushed the hopes of a recovery to H2 2025. AMN Healthcare fell after posting worse-than-expected quarterly results and a disappointing outlook.

Global equity markets posted strong returns in H1 2024, reflected in the 11.21% return of the MSCI All Country World IMI Index in sterling terms. H1 was a period of two-halves: Q1 was broadly positive, but Q2 was more challenging, despite the positive return. Q1 was driven, in a large part, by the US and Japan, the strength in the US supported by investors continuing to back last year's winners, a strong earnings season and ongoing expectations of interest rate cuts.

In Japan, the Nikkei 225 reached an all-time high (in local currency), boosted by better-than-expected earnings and optimism around the economic cycle, coupled with modest inflation, a weakening currency and a shift to positive rates. It has since retreated modestly as long-term rates increased and valuations looked comparatively full. Notably, by the end of H1, market breadth narrowed significantly as a small cohort of stocks, led by artificial intelligence (AI) focused mega cap companies, moved materially higher.

Investment Strategy

The Federated Hermes Impact Opportunities Equity Fund is a high-conviction global equity strategy. Our approach is to find companies whose products and services address unmet needs in society. Such companies often have structural growth opportunities while also bringing wider benefits that address environmental and social challenges. Through careful stock selection, we aim to create a portfolio capable of generating attractive long-term financial returns alongside delivering clear, positive impacts on society and the planet.

Investors have become increasingly aware that incorporating sustainability and ESG factors into their stock selection will often help them to avoid companies that destroy shareholder value. Our Impact investing strategy goes beyond risk mitigation and invests in companies that are tackling the underserved needs of society and the environment and as such are exposed to sources of enduring demand.

We take a thematic approach and seek to capture opportunities which are created by mega trends. Through assessing the UN Sustainable Development Goals' (SDGs') underlying targets, we have alighted on nine key impact themes which are investable.

The Fund's overall structure remained broadly consistent over the period. The largest overweight positions remained in the Health Care and Industrials sectors. The Fund remained underweight in Financials, Information Technology and Consumer Discretionary.

Performance Review

The Fund returned 0.53%, in sterling terms, underperforming the benchmark by 961 basis points (bps). The market environment has been challenging, particularly in the latter part of the period when market breadth narrowed significantly. For a sense of how narrow the market was, the S&P 500 increased by 3.9% in Q2, but the equally-weighted index fell by 3.1%. Within the US, seven mega-cap stocks accounted for 10.1 percentage points of the 15.3% return of the S&P 500.

Stock selection was the main influence on relative underperformance, with stock selection in Information Technology and Health Care outweighing the positive contribution from selection in Materials. Sector allocation also had a negative impact due to the Fund's overweight positions in Health Care and Industrials and the underweight stance in Information Technology.

Novo Nordisk, Lonza Group and Tetra Tech were the largest individual contributors over the period. Novo Nordisk continues to benefit from positive dynamics in the obesity market, particularly in the US. Lonza Group rose in Q1 after reporting better-than-expected results driven by its biologics division. Tetra Tech issued better-than-expected earnings and raised guidance. It also upgraded medium-term guidance, with the company seeing strong opportunities across the board, particularly in water.

The largest detractor came from not owning Nvidia. Among our holdings, Bank Rakyat Indonesia, Abcellera and Sartorius detracted the most. Bank Rakyat experienced deteriorating credit quality from SME loans issued in 2023. The rise in provisions alongside the surprise Indonesian central bank rate rise combined to hit the shares. AbCellera saw sentiment impacted by the higher-for-longer rate environment. News specific to the firm was broadly positive, with the announcement of a collaboration with Biogen to discover therapeutic antibodies for neurological conditions. Sartorius reported sales and order intake that fell short of expectations, although the company maintained its guidance for the year.

Outlook

The US macroeconomic environment appears resilient, while Europe seems to be stabilising. There are some signs of softening inflation in the US and an increasing likelihood of rate cuts starting in September. Alongside reasonable earnings growth, this leaves us cautiously optimistic for a broadening out of equity market leadership. Where there is less certainty is in the political environment, where French President Macron's surprise snap election and the looming US Presidential election are likely to create volatility.

Over the longer term, we believe the UN SDGs provide an enduring source of demand that should accelerate over the next few years if we want to meet the 2030 targets. Our Fund seeks to identify companies providing the solutions, which should benefit from enduring sources of demand for their products that address these unmet needs, while at the same time helping people and the planet.

Inflation, growth and geopolitical tensions remained key themes that investors had to navigate over the first half of the year. With central banks and financial markets continuing to be heavily data driven and macroeconomic indicators trending down in a slow and non-linear fashion, interest rates volatility continued to impact asset class performance meaningfully.

The inflation versus growth narrative has been especially difficult to navigate in the US, where the labour market has been strong and GDP growth in expansionary territory, while inflation prints, although trending downwards, have remained above target. This meant the Federal Reserve (Fed) could not deliver a single rate cut over the period and investors continued to reprice the timing and magnitude of expected rate cuts.

That said, there was a contrasting picture in Europe, where growth remained much weaker compared with the US and inflation numbers have come down more significantly. In this context, the European Central Bank (ECB) delivered its first rate cut since the pandemic, lowering its deposit rate by 25 basis points (bps) to 3.75%. Political developments were also back in focus from June, as the results of European Parliamentary elections triggered a surprise snap election by French president Macron, leading to a major selloff in French assets. The spread (difference in yield) between the French and German 10-year government bond yields widened by 29bps to 80bps in the week after the election announcement, its biggest weekly widening since the Euro sovereign debt crisis in 2011.

Finally, geopolitical tensions continued to impact risk sentiment, especially at the start of the quarter, with worries of a broader escalation of the conflict in the Middle East spurring oil prices to a high of US$92/bbl during the period (falling back again towards the end of the quarter as no escalation occurred).

Investment Strategy

As spreads continued to tighten further over the period, we took profit in credit issuers that had reached fairly rich valuations, while reducing maturities in select high-quality issuers that offered a flat credit curve (short-term and long-term bonds having no significant yield differences). This enabled us to increase our positioning in certain capital structures that presented a more attractive pick-up in spread, as well as to complete switches from credit default swaps (CDS) to cash bonds.

In addition, activity within the hedge overlay focused on terming out and re-striking our options positions following the continued grind tighter in credit spreads. Despite having risen a little in January, implied volatility declined over the period and reinforced our view on the attractiveness of tail protection. Within structured credit, primary market activity remained strong, with valuations still attractive across the ratings spectrum. We favoured AAA-rated bonds, which have not rallied as much as other part of the capital structure since the beginning of the year and have also added BBs to defensive managers which we view as attractive and less subject to volatility than more equity-friendly managers.

Lastly, rates volatility remains intense amid speculation on the timing and magnitude of policy changes, but the Fund remained neutral to slightly long duration (a measure of sensitivity of a bond's price to a change of interest rates) overall, with a preference for UK gilts. The Fund also took the opportunity to add a curve steepening position, with the expectation that short-term rates would fall faster than long-term ones. We have also kept a short position on French government bonds, with the fiscal deficit in France a key concern which could negatively impact sovereign bonds.

Performance Review

The Federated Hermes Unconstrained Credit Fund (net of fees, F USD Acc share class) returned 2.09% in the first half of 2024.

From a sector perspective, the Fund's allocations to banking, collateralised loan obligations (CLOs) and the Utilities sector contributed the most to performance, while its exposure to the Health Care sector detracted marginally.

The strong performance in Financials was mostly driven by low-reset, long-duration perpetual bonds (perps) and was further supported by new issuance from names such as Santander, which the Fund participated in and Deutsche Bank's new AT1 issuance, which buoyed spreads in the secondary market.

Within structured credit, CLOs have continued to show resilience and a lower sensitivity to interest rate moves as well as benefitting from strong technicals year to date, with our exposure in the BBB and BB space benefitting from the positive asset-class-related tailwinds.

At the single-name issuer level, allocations to Ally Financial, Intesa Sanpaolo and Commerzbank were key contributors. In contrast, exposure to Ardagh Group, Grifols and Charter Communications were the largest detractors.

From a regional perspective, all allocations contributed positively, with Western Europe, North America and the UK contributing the most.

From a ratings perspective, the Fund's exposure to BBB- and BB-rated securities added the most to performance through the period, while B-rated securities and below detracted the most.

Lastly, the Fund's sovereign exposure (neutral duration overall) contributed positively to returns, with its curve steeper position contributing as we saw yields at the shorter end of the curve decrease more quickly than those at the long end towards the end of the period. Our short exposure to French government bonds (OATs) also contributed to performance in June as snap French elections led a major jump in the OAT versus German bund spread.

Outlook

Consensus continues to expect that growth will moderate through H2 but remain above trend. Much of this positive outlook hinges on consumption growth driven by growing real incomes and supported by positive wealth effects and strong labour markets. Inflation is expected to slowly make its way back to target, with goods disinflation doing the heavy lifting, while services remains well above pre-pandemic levels. This view of a 'soft landing' scenario is accepted and well-priced, but there are still risks to be mindful of. These include the rise in political volatility, uncertainty around the growth outlook, growing deficits, geopolitics and how higher-for-longer rates impact growth expectations and risk markets.

Corporate credit fundamentals remain healthy, with earnings holding up as cost pressures are easing and an earnings recovery is expected in the second half of the year. Interest coverage and leverage levels have slightly worsened, but from a strong base. Default rates have decreased to 1.79% for US high yield in June and 1.89% for European high yield in April, remaining well below long-term averages. Distressed transactions in the US have started to increase and totalled US$8.9bn in May, the third-highest monthly total for distressed exchanges on record.

Our near-term outlook favours exposure to high-quality bonds with selective exposure to B-/CCC-rated credit, a focus on low-cash-price bonds and a reduction in overall spread duration and we continue to be positioned in defensive sectors. Yields remain attractive and, as rates volatility continues to normalise, we would expect this part of the credit market to outperform. Lastly, we continue to believe that seamless integration of ESG and sustainability considerations coupled with active engagement is critical to sustainable long-term performance.

Federated Hermes Global Emerging Markets SMID Equity Fund

Market Review

The benchmark MSCI Emerging Markets SMID Net TR Index returned 4.6% over the first half of 2024 in US Dollar terms (5.45% in sterling terms), underperforming broader emerging markets (7.5%) and developed markets (11.7%). Emerging market (EM) equities gained ground amid ongoing enthusiasm for artificial intelligence (AI), China's supportive policy measures and optimism on Federal Reserve (Fed) easing. Global equities continued to edge up amid signs that slowing inflation across the major developed economies will bring lower interest rates this year, increasing the chances of an economic 'soft landing', which would support corporate earnings growth and share prices.

EM growth (8.3%) outperformed EM value (6.4%) year to date and EM equities continued to post outflows. At a regional level, emerging Europe, Middle East and Africa (8.6%) and EM Asia (6.3%) outperformed and Latin America (-15.9%) finished substantially lower. Turkey (32.2%), India (20.6%) and Malaysia (12.8%) were the best-performing markets, with Egypt (-27.8%), Brazil (-21.3%) and Indonesia (-15.9%) at the bottom. The majority of EM currencies depreciated against the US Dollar, notably Latin American currencies. Ongoing Middle East tensions remained, helping to push oil prices up 13.9%. Gold rose 13% and silver jumped 23%.

Turkey (32.2%) posted the highest returns in EM over the period, helped by optimism that economic policy will remain orthodox as the central bank continued to increase interest rates, while runaway inflation sent domestic investors into shares, especially in the tech space. Indian equities (20.6%) continued higher, as Prime Minister Modi's Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP)-led National Democratic Alliance retained its parliamentary majority, although the BJP lost its single-party majority. In China (-4.4%), optimism surrounding additional easing measures and better economic activity data helped the stock market rebound from the five-year lows touched in January. Nevertheless, lacklustre domestic demand and the ongoing property market crisis continued to weigh on investor sentiment. Brazil (-21.1%) led Latin America lower as its central bank flagged caution on future interest rate cuts, while flooding in Brazil's southern state of Rio Grande do Sul prompted investor concerns about economic growth, fiscal spending and inflation. Mexico fell -14.7%, a result of the Q2 selloff primarily related to Claudia Sheinbaum's election as president in June and her Morena party's supermajority in Congress raising concerns about power-concentration.

Sector returns remained highly divergent. Industrials jumped 15.7% to finish the period on top, followed by Financials (9.7%) and Consumer Discretionary (3.9%). Health Care (-2.5%), Energy (-1.9%), Real Estate (-0.9%) and Utilities (-0.5%) finished in negative territory.

The team initiated several new positions:

- Hong Kong-listed ASMPT, benefitting from its involvement in the advanced packaging equipment market
- Chinese gas firm Huate Gas, benefitting from the global semiconductor upcycle
- Samsung Life, Korea's largest life insurer, sufficiently capitalised to increase its dividend in line with the Korean government's 'value-up' initiative
- Bolsa Mexicana, Mexico's securities exchange, benefitting from easing interest rates and expectations of higher trading volumes
- Atour Lifestyle, a Chinese hotel company, which has a fast-growing retail business and an impressive franchise-based business model
- Info Edge, India's premier online classifieds company, operating across recruitment, real estate, matrimony and education, which has significant success in venture investing
- India Mart, a discovery-led B2B platform, focused on the industrial and manufacturing sectors of India, using proprietary data analysis and AI to matchmake its 170 million buyers to its 7.3 million suppliers on its platform
- Bumrungrad Hospital, a health-care provider in Thailand, with mid-term expansion plans to grow capacity by 50% and new growth opportunities in Kuwait and Saudi Arabia;
- OceanaGold Philippines, which operates a gold mine, with silver and copper byproducts, low on the cost curve, owned and operated by a Canadian parent, giving the company higher governance standards than Philippine peers, exposed to strong structural gold trends and option value through a prospect mine within its FTAA agreement land access, projected to pay attractive shareholder returns
- Nien Made, a designer and manufacturer of window coverings, an outstanding and well-run Taiwan family business, generating consistent through-cycle return on invested capital (ROIC) of above 20% and in line to benefit from the US housing market recovery (70-80% of Nien's sales)
- Zhongsheng, China's largest luxury car retailer, which has consolidated the domestic luxury car dealership market through organic and inorganic means, at an attractive valuation that reflects a challenging operating environment post-2021 but not its clear strategy to grow its auto servicing business
- Cyient, a leading engineering and R&D (e-R&D) company with a strong heritage and capabilities in the aerospace and defence segments and new growth areas including predictive maintenance, fleet digitalisation, new engines and aircraft design in sustainable aviation.

The team sold Chailease, a Taiwan-based company principally engaged in traditional leasing and installment payment services, after reporting Q1 results, mainly on worse-than-expected non-performing loans in mainland China and Taiwan and delay to a China tax rebate. Near-term headwinds include tightening on Taiwan consumer finance and higher-for-longer rates.

The team exited portfolio positions in Centre Testing, a Chinese testing and inspecting services provider for industrial products and consumer products and Hangzhou Tigermed, a contract drug research and development company, given near-term macroeconomic challenges. Several holdings were also trimmed due to portfolio outflows.

Performance Review

The Fund returned 5.93% in sterling terms, net of fees, over the period, outperforming the benchmark MSCI Emerging Markets Index, which returned 5.45%, by 45 basis points (bps). Outperformance was driven by stock selection in India, Taiwan, Turkey and Poland, eclipsing weaker selection in Brazil, South Korea and Mexico.

Va Tech Wabag, an Indian water and sewage treatment provider globally, rose on strong operating performance, with its healthy order book offering decent growth visibility. Tencent Music, China's leading streaming music business, rose after reporting solid Q1 results on stronger-than-expected growth in online music revenue, a record-high 6.8 million net additional subscribers, continued gross margin expansion and an improving shareholder return policy. Wiwynn, a Taiwanese producer of server equipment, rose as AI-server and general server demand is expected to be strong throughout 2024.

Localiza, the leading car rental company in Brazil, continued to be weak due to higher depreciation caused by the ongoing rise in new vehicle prices and decreasing used vehicle prices. Localiza's management expected depreciation to continue rising in Q2. Going forward, improved dynamics for new and used car sales will be critical for stronger earnings growth. China Overseas Property Holdings, a property management company, fell after reporting worse-than-expected 2023 results and no increase to its dividend. Dada Nexus, a leading Chinese instant retail and delivery platform, moved lower as on-demand retail continued to be weak as customers forewent convenience and remained extremely price sensitive. In December 2023, the company voluntarily revealed an overstatement of both advertising revenue and costs during the first nine months of 2023, raising credibility concerns. The team exited the position.

Outlook

There have been several interesting developments in emerging markets this year that reinforce our view they are on a solid foundation with credible drivers of future growth. Elections in India, Indonesia and South Africa are reassuring for policy continuity and there is potential for acceleration in reforms in South Africa. While there was volatility post the election in Mexico, it is likely that the new government will take a market-friendly approach on issues that matter most to investors. Korea's corporate 'value up' programme could provide a helpful tailwind for many Korean companies if it is implemented well and has the potential to address the Korean discount. China continues to support its property sector, while pursuing state-owned enterprise (SOE) reforms and its transition towards a higher value-added economy. There is a strong possibility that Brazil will maintain fiscal prudence, while the outlook for several commodities remains benign.

Positive policy action in many emerging economies could translate into a conducive environment for businesses to operate and flourish. The team prioritises investments in good-quality companies with a proven ability to compound their value over a long period of time, with drivers that will help them grow structurally, with low leverage levels and which trade at reasonable valuations. Companies with these characteristics will be best placed to outperform in a world that may well see higher-for-longer and more volatile interest rates, slower growth and more geopolitical uncertainty.

Over Q2, we continued to work on several risk rotations, opting for longer dated bonds of issuers we like in the autos and capital good sectors. We were also active in rotating the Fund's subordinated financials book through the new issue market, adding new additional tier 1 (AT1) securities which came to the market with attractive coupons. To make room, the Fund lightened up exposure to several older AT1 securities that had performed strongly year to date.

Performance Review

The Federated Hermes SDG Engagement High Yield Fund (net of fees, USD F Acc share class) generated a return of +2.62% for the first half of 2024, underperforming its benchmark by 87bps.

The Fund's overweight positioning in banking and telecoms, as well as an underweight allocation to media, were the top contributors to relative performance. In contrast, its underweight positioning in the Energy, Health Care and Real Estate sectors were the biggest detractors.

At the individual holdings level, the Fund's underweight exposure to Altice International, as well as overweight allocations to Ally Financial and ING Group, boosted its relative return the most, while its lack of exposure to Pemex and Bausch Health Companies, as well as an overweight position in Grifols, detracted the most.

The Fund's positioning in North America, as well as underweight positions in Asia and Latam, detracted the most relative to the benchmark, while its overweight position in Western Europe contributed positively.

From a ratings perspective, the Fund's overweight positioning in BBB- and BB-rated securities positively impacted relative performance the most, while its significant underweight position in single-B-rated issues and below detracted the most, as lower rated credits outperformed higher quality issuers overall during the period.

Federated Hermes US High Yield Credit Fund

Market Review

For the six months ended 30 June 2024, the high yield market outperformed the investment grade bond market. For example, the ICE BofA High Yield 2% Issuer Constrained index (HUC0) returned 2.617% versus a 0.317% return for the ICE BofA US Corporate Index, a measure of high-quality bond performance.

The key factor driving the outperformance continues to be a resilient US economy supported by a robust employment environment. While the unemployment rate and weekly jobless claims have recently moved modestly higher, the overall jobs picture remains strong by historical standards. This has allowed the economy to shrug off various indicators signaling potential weakness, including higher short-term interest rates engineered by the Federal Reserve (Fed) and declining leading indicators. Similarly, corporate credit quality is showing some modest signs of weakening but remains reasonable compared to history. Credit spreads (the difference in yield between corporate bonds and their equivalent government-issued bonds) did move slightly tighter during the period and remain very tight by historical standards. For example, the credit spread between ICE BofA High Yield 2% Issuer Constrained index and Treasury securities with similar maturities decreased from 339 basis points (bps) to 321bps.

Investment Strategy

Our investment approach remains focused on security selection over duration (a measure of sensitivity of a bond's price to a change of interest rates) or yield curve. We believe performance in the US high yield market is driven by credit during the vast majority of periods. We continue to evaluate credits based on bottom-up fundamental analysis, with a bias towards companies that can produce predictable, consistent free cash flow. We view ourselves as ratings-agency agnostic, preferring to focus on our view of the strength of an underlying business, as opposed to ratings-agency ratings. For the period, our largest overweight positions were in the insurance and technology and electronics sectors. Our largest underweights were in the Energy and Real Estate sectors.

Performance Review

For the period, the Fund generated a gross return of 2.35% versus 2.62% for the index. Underperformance was driven by an underweight to the outperforming Energy sector, negative security selection in retail (largely driven by outperformance in previously underperforming credits Carvana and Rakuten) and negative security selection in media (specifically in terrestrial radio broadcaster iHeart and local television channels owners Cox Media and Gray TV).

Partially offsetting that, we saw positive contributions from our underweight in the underperforming telecommunications sector (largely driven by not owning positions in SFR or Level Three), positive security selection in the capital goods sector and positive security selection in the services sector (largely driven by our position in SRS distribution, which is being purchased by Home Depot).

Outlook

Credit spreads remain very tight, supported by a resilient US economy and strong employment. While not yet at the Fed's 2% target, inflation has come down and the Fed appears ready (if not anxious) to lower short-term rates, especially if they perceive weakness in the economic picture. The earnings performance of high yield companies remains stable, although, in many cases, this is the result of higher prices in a weak-volume environment. High interest costs are negatively impacting weaker issuers across the leveraged finance sector, causing default rates to move higher in sectors such as leveraged loans. High yield bond defaults have remained well behaved so far in 2024, but secularly challenged issuers in sectors such as media and entertainment, retail, wireline telecommunications and cable and satellite could lead to higher default rates later in 2024 and into 2025. Credit spreads moved slightly wider late in the period, off historically tight levels, but whether this represents a modest tone change in the market, or fears of broader credit deterioration seeping in, is yet to be seen.

Federated Hermes Sustainable Global Equity Fund

Market Review

The MSCI All Country World Index returned 12.24% in sterling terms and 11.30% in US Dollar terms, (unless otherwise stated all subsequent returns will be in US Dollars).

Global equity markets rose over the first half of 2024 as resilient economic data buoyed the market's hopes for interest rate cuts and an economic 'soft landing'. Following a strong start, the second quarter began with apprehension as stickier-than-anticipated inflation prints forced the market to reassess the pace and start dates of cuts from central banks, while geopolitical tensions in the Middle East boosted commodities. Optimism returned in May thanks to stronger corporate earnings in the US and reassuring economic data which highlighted the reacceleration of the European economy. Enthusiasm around artificial intelligence (AI) and related companies continued and provided support to both the US and Taiwanese markets.

Japan and the US were the best performing markets in H1 2024. In Japan, the Nikkei 225 reached an all-time high (in local currency) boosted by better-than-expected earnings and optimism around the economic cycle, coupled with modest inflation, a weakening currency and a shift to positive rates. It has since retreated modestly, as long-term rates increased and valuations looked comparatively full. Asia ex Japan lagged, driven by Hong Kong, which was affected by continued pessimism towards China's economy. There was a brief improvement in fortunes in April, but that has since disappeared. Despite some encouraging economic data from China, domestic demand remains weak and the challenges in the property market that have impacted sentiment are yet to be resolved.

Mirroring last year, one of the features of markets over the H1 2024 period has been the lack of market breadth, with indices being driven by a small number of mega cap tech-focused stocks. Information Technology (23.92%) and Communication Services (20.39%) were the best performing sectors, while Real Estate (-3.80%) and Materials (-1.33%) lagged. Developed markets, large cap and growth outperformed emerging markets, small cap and value.

Investment Strategy

The Federated Hermes Sustainable Global Equity Fund is a high-conviction global equity strategy. It aims to generate attractive financial returns by investing in companies helping to create a more sustainable future.

We only invest in companies that make a difference. This is reflected in the strategy holdings, which are all aligned with and facilitating progress on, one or several of the UN's Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). Each investment stands out for the strength of the operations, or products and services they offer. Both best-in-class and the fastest improving companies are considered for the portfolio, with a clear link between the environmental and social performance of the business and financial return.

Performance Review

The Fund returned 14.09% in sterling terms in H1 2024 (13.55% in gross US Dollar terms), outperforming the benchmark by 165 basis points (bps). The outperformance was driven by stock selection and our overweight holding, in Information Technology and stock selection in Consumer Staples and Health Care. These more than offset the drag from stock selection in Financials and Consumer Discretionary.

Nvidia, Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company (TSMC) and Novo Nordisk were the largest contributors to performance.

Nvidia continued its impressive performance in the first half of 2024 after announcing better-than-expected quarterly results, robust forecasts and a series of economic data points which indicated that AI compute spend is likely to grow through 2025. Nvidia is benefitting from the remarkable demand for its AI-related products and, through continued innovation and partnerships with industry giants, the company is well positioned to retain its market leadership in accelerated computing and AI. TSMC rose due to the surging demand for AI chips and its leadership in next-gen node-processing technology. TSMC is the exclusive producer of Nvidia's H- and B-series AI-chips and the share price was boosted by Nvidia's consensus-beating second-quarter guidance. Novo Nordisk reported strong Q4 results, driven by its drug Ozempic, while 2024 guidance came in at the midpoint of consensus expectations.

AIA Group, Bank Rakyat and Wex were the largest detractors from performance. AIA was impacted at the start of 2024 by deteriorating Chinese economic data points and investor sentiment in the region. The shares sold off post full-year results, as a lack of clarity around shareholder returns soured a decent set of headline numbers. However, AIA rallied after announcing better-than-expected quarterly results and additional share buybacks. The results highlighted a strong beat within new business. Bank Rakyat fell after reporting higher provisions from loans issued between Q1 and Q3 2023. The share price was not helped by a surprise rate hike from the Indonesian Central Bank, despite inflation remaining moderate. The tightening of policy in Indonesia took the index down sharply too. Wex declined after posting in-line earnings, but disappointed some with a more cautious second-quarter outlook.

Outlook

Recent economic data has tempered concerns of overheating in the US economy while highlighting that corporate fundamentals remain in good health. Expectations for interest rate cuts remain, albeit with some divergence in timing across regions. Nevertheless, it remains, in aggregate, a constructive set up for risk assets, given likely easing and a robust economic backdrop.

The strategy has a clear bias to quality businesses which offer long-term resilience. Sector-wise, overweight positions in both Information Technology and Industrials should benefit from both a cyclical recovery as well as the structural trends currently proliferating.

Market Review

Inflation, growth and geopolitical tensions remained key themes that investors had to navigate over the first half of the year. With central banks and financial markets continuing to be heavily data driven and macroeconomic indicators trending down in a slow and non-linear fashion, interest rates volatility continued to impact asset class performance meaningfully.

The inflation versus growth narrative has been especially difficult to navigate in the US, where the labour market has been strong and GDP growth in expansionary territory, while inflation prints, although trending downwards, have remained above target. This meant the Federal Reserve (Fed) could not deliver a single rate cut over the period and investors continued to reprice the timing and magnitude of expected rate cuts.

That said, there was a contrasting picture in Europe, where growth remained much weaker compared with the US and inflation numbers have come down more significantly. In this context, the European Central Bank (ECB) delivered its first rate cut since the pandemic, lowering its deposit rate by 25 basis points (bps) to 3.75%. Political developments were also back in focus from June, as the results of European Parliamentary elections triggered a surprise snap election by French president Macron, leading to a major selloff in French assets. The spread (difference in yield) between the French and German 10-year government bond yields widened by 29bps to 80bps in the week after the election announcement, its biggest weekly widening since the Euro sovereign debt crisis in 2011.

Finally, geopolitical tensions continued to impact risk sentiment, especially at the start of the quarter, with worries of a broader escalation of the conflict in the Middle East spurring oil prices to a high of US$92/bbl during the period (falling back again towards the end of the quarter as no escalation occurred).

Investment Strategy

As corporate bond spreads continued to tighten further over the period, we took profit in credit issuers that had reached fairly rich valuations, while reducing maturities in select high-quality issuers that offered a flat credit curve (short-term and long-term bonds having no significant yield differences). This enabled us to increase our positioning in certain capital structures that presented a more attractive pick-up in spread, as well as to complete switches from credit default swaps (CDS) to cash bonds.

Over Q2, we continued to work on several risk rotations, opting for longer dated bonds of issuers we like in the autos and capital good sectors. We were also active in rotating the Fund's subordinated financials book through the new issue market, adding new additional tier 1 (AT1) securities which came to the market with attractive coupons. To make room, the Fund lightened up exposure to several older AT1 securities that had performed strongly year to date. Finally, the Fund took profit on a portion of its position in US retail company Macy's on the back of a 100bps spread rally since mid-April, which reduced the relative value of the position.

Performance Review

The Federated Hermes Climate Change High Yield Credit Fund (net of fees, USD F Acc share class) generated a return of 3.09% in the first half of 2024, outperforming its benchmark by 29bps.

The Fund's overweight positioning to telecoms and banking, as well as an underweight allocation to media, were the top contributors to relative performance over the period. In contrast, underweight positioning in the Real Estate and Health Care sectors, as well as a lack of exposure to the leisure industry, were the biggest detractors.

At the individual holdings level, the Fund's lack of exposure to Altice and Atos, as well as an overweight allocation to Liberty Global, boosted relative returns the most. Meanwhile, an overweight position in Ardagh Group, as well as a lack of exposure to Bausch Health and Carvana, detracted the most.

At the regional level, the Fund's overweight positioning in Western Europe and the UK were the top contributors to relative performance. In contrast, its underweight positioning to Asia and North America detracted the most.

From a ratings perspective, the Fund's overweight allocation to BBB-rated securities positively impacted its performance through the period, while its significant underweight positioning in B-rated securities and below, detracted the most.

Outlook

Consensus continues to expect that growth will moderate through H2 but remain above trend. Much of this positive outlook hinges on consumption growth driven by growing real incomes and supported by positive wealth effects and strong labour markets. Inflation is expected to slowly make its way back to target, with goods disinflation doing the heavy lifting, while services remains well above pre-pandemic levels. This view of a 'soft landing' scenario is accepted and well-priced, but there are still risks to be mindful of. These include the rise in political volatility, uncertainty around the growth outlook, growing deficits, geopolitics and how higher-for-longer rates impact growth expectations and risk markets.

Corporate credit fundamentals remain healthy, with earnings holding up as cost pressures are easing and an earnings recovery is expected in the second half of the year. Interest coverage and leverage levels have slightly worsened, but from a strong base. Default rates have decreased to 1.79% for US high yield in June and 1.89% for European high yield in April, remaining well below long-term averages. Distressed transactions in the US have started to increase and totalled US$8.9bn in May, the third-highest monthly total for distressed exchanges on record.

Our near-term outlook favours exposure to high-quality bonds with selective exposure to B-/CCC-rated credit, a focus on low-cash-price bonds and a reduction in overall spread duration and we continue to be positioned in defensive sectors. Yields remain attractive and, as rates volatility continues to normalise, we would expect this part of the credit market to outperform. Lastly, we continue to believe that seamless integration of ESG and sustainability considerations coupled with active engagement is critical to sustainable long-term performance.

Market Review

Inflation, growth and geopolitical tensions remained key themes that investors had to navigate over the first half of the year. With central banks and financial markets continuing to be heavily data driven and macroeconomic indicators trending down in a slow and non-linear fashion, interest rates volatility continued to impact asset class performance meaningfully.

The inflation versus growth narrative has been especially difficult to navigate in the US, where the labour market has been strong and GDP growth in expansionary territory, while inflation prints, although trending downwards, have remained above target. This meant the Federal Reserve (Fed) could not deliver a single rate cut over the period and investors continued to reprice the timing and magnitude of expected rate cuts.

That said, there was a contrasting picture in Europe, where growth remained much weaker compared with the US and inflation numbers have come down more significantly. In this context, the European Central Bank (ECB) delivered its first rate cut since the pandemic, lowering its deposit rate by 25 basis points (bps) to 3.75%. Political developments were also back in focus from June, as the results of European Parliamentary elections triggered a surprise snap election by French president Macron, leading to a major selloff in French assets. The spread (difference in yield) between the French and German 10-year government bond yields widened by 29bps to 80bps in the week after the election announcement, its biggest weekly widening since the Euro sovereign debt crisis in 2011.

Finally, geopolitical tensions continued to impact risk sentiment, especially at the start of the quarter, with worries of a broader escalation of the conflict in the Middle East spurring oil prices to a high of US$92/bbl during the period (falling back again towards the end of the quarter as no escalation occurred).

Against this backdrop, the JPM EM Global Diversified index was up by 2.34%, with sovereigns underperforming corporates (CEMBI index up by 3.65%) but outperforming local currency bonds (GBI index up by 1.58%). We continued to see high yield emerging market debt (EMD) outperforming investment grade EMD, with frontier markets delivering the strongest returns year to date.

The Federated Hermes Emerging Markets Debt Fund returned 2.21% (net of fees, Z USD share class) over H1 2024, outperforming its benchmark by 14bps.

Country allocation was especially successful in Egypt, Ecuador and Nigeria (which were all overweight positions relative to the benchmark).

Our positioning in Egypt contributed the most to performance. We added to our exposure in Egypt, increasing the overweight, both on a notional basis and in duration (interest rate sensitivity) terms, following our investment trip at the beginning of February. We came away from the trip feeling more positive on the prospects of Egypt being able to secure enough foreign exchange (FX) liquidity to meet its near- and medium-term funding needs, to clear the FX backlog and to secure a new International Monetary Fund (IMF) deal. Following the announcement of an historical US$35bn investment deal from the UAE, Egypt's hard currency bonds rallied by an average of 13 points.

Our positioning in Nigeria contributed significantly to performance (exposure across both hard currency sovereigns and corporates), with the authorities' focus on structural reforms well appreciated by credit markets. The announcement of a tightening in monetary policy (hiking interest rates) by policymakers was also a welcome move as it was expected to help lower inflation and stop currency depreciation, although pressures on the Naira remain elevated.

Our positioning in Ecuador – overweight sovereign at the long end of the curve (longer maturity bonds) – contributed positively as the newly formed government announced it had taken important steps to reduce its fiscal deficit (including raising revenues via a VAT hike and reducing subsidies), boosting investor confidence.

Portfolio Activity

As spreads remain tight at the headline level, we continued to favour high-yield frontier issuers trading at low cash prices, such as Pakistan, Argentina, Kenya and Egypt. In Q1, we took the opportunity to gain exposure to sovereigns that were trading at attractive levels following spreads widening, in countries such as the Dominican Republic. Continuing with our general theme of switching out of corporates into sovereigns, we reduced our exposure to Ecopetrol and increased our exposure to Colombian sovereigns at the long end of the curve. We also neutralised our positioning in Ukraine in order to enable the Fund to benefit in the event of a positive debt restructuring outcome.

In Q2, we trimmed our Mexican exposure significantly, ahead of the elections, anticipating that Claudia Sheinbaum's election might lead to some market concerns surrounding fiscal deficits. We added to our exposure in Brazil, via corporates, focusing on issuers which have strong balance sheets and good prospects driven by positive tailwinds from commodities exposure. Finally, we added to Indonesia, reducing our underweight relative to the benchmark, given attractive entry points following a relative lag performance-wise compared to other EM names.

In line with the Federated Hermes Duration committee's view, the Fund held a slightly longer duration profile versus the benchmark.

In line with the Federated Hermes Currency and Yield Curve committee's views, the Fund has extended its risk budget to non-Dollar currencies (especially in countries where disinflation trends are underway) and has set up a curve steepened position (expecting yields to fall more for shorter maturities than for longer maturities).

Outlook

Investors in EMD have been rewarded with a positive return profile this year, despite the rate volatility and tight spreads across core EM names. Returns in EM high yield have been particularly strong since the start of the year, especially as IMF programmes continue to boost investor sentiment across frontier markets. We continue to see attractive investment opportunities in selective EM high yield/frontier credits for H2 2024, while looking to position ourselves on the longer end of the curve in core EM names that we like. Our central thesis remains unchanged:

- The macro backdrop is very much fixed income friendly: slowing developed market growth and a US Treasury curve bull steepening (a change in the yield curve caused by short-term interest rates falling faster than long-term rates) will see clients look to move out on maturity and the credit curve.
- EM central banks will continue to cut rates as inflation abates, thereby opening up the prospects to small allocations to EM local bonds.
- Even though aggregate EM hard currency valuations do not look particularly attractive, high yield spreads are attractive and implied default rates are excessive.
- EM yields are attractive versus global credit.
- Hydrocarbon prices, which underpin many EM economies, remain robust.

Lastly, we continue to believe that seamless integration of ESG and sustainability considerations, coupled with active engagement, is critical to sustainable long-term performance.

Federated Hermes Biodiversity Equity Fund

Market Review

Global equity markets posted strong returns in H1 2024, reflected in the 11.21% return of the MSCI All Country World IMI Index. H1 was a period of two-halves: Q1 was broadly positive, but Q2 was more challenging, despite the positive return. Q1 was driven, in a large part, by the US and Japan, the strength in the US supported by investors continuing to back last year's winners, a strong earnings season and ongoing expectations of interest rate cuts.

In Japan, the Nikkei 225 reached an all-time high (in local currency), boosted by better-than-expected earnings and optimism around the economic cycle, coupled with modest inflation, a weakening currency and a shift to positive rates. It has since retreated modestly as long-term rates increased and valuations looked comparatively full. Asia ex Japan lagged, driven by Hong Kong, which was affected by continued pessimism towards China's economy. There was a brief improvement in fortunes in April, but that has since disappeared. Despite some encouraging economic data from China, domestic demand remains weak and the challenges in the property market that have impacted sentiment are yet to be resolved.

Expectations for interest rate cuts moderated significantly in the US at the start of Q2, which affected sentiment. But optimism returned in May thanks to stronger corporate earnings in the US and reassuring economic data which highlighted the reacceleration of the European economy. Notably, by the end of H1, market breadth narrowed significantly as a small cohort of stocks, led by artificial intelligence (AI) focused mega cap companies, moved materially higher.

Investment Strategy

The Federated Hermes Biodiversity Equity Fund is a high-conviction global equity strategy. The Fund aims to achieve capital growth over a rolling five-year period by investing in companies that are helping to protect and restore biodiversity or are reducing the threat to biodiversity through their measurable contribution to reducing one or more of the following: land pollution, marine pollution and exploitation, unsustainable living, climate change, unsustainable farming or deforestation.

We believe that companies that include biodiversity considerations within their business strategies and/or as part of their risk mitigation strategies should have better long-term risk-adjusted profiles, given the huge systemic risk biodiversity loss poses to the world. With increasing awareness and regulation around biodiversity, companies providing solutions, or leading the way through their operations, to reduce harm and protect biodiversity should benefit from material tailwinds, such as increased spending by governing bodies and the private sector as the theme comes further into focus.

The Fund's overall structure remained broadly consistent over the period. The largest overweight positions remained in the Industrials and Materials sectors, while Information Technology, Financials and Communication Services remained the largest underweight positions.

Performance Review

The Fund returned 3.49%, in GBP terms, underperforming the benchmark by 695 basis points (bps). The market environment has been challenging, particularly in the latter part of the period when market breadth narrowed significantly. For a sense of how narrow the market was, the S&P 500 increased by 3.9% in Q2, but the equally weighted index fell by 3.1%. Within the US, seven mega-cap stocks accounted for 10.1 percentage points of the 15.3% return of the S&P 500.

Stock selection and sector allocation had a negative influence on relative returns over the period. Stock selection in Materials was successful, but it was outweighed by detractions from Information Technology, Health Care, Industrials and Utilities. From an allocation perspective, there were detractions from the Fund's underweight position in Information Technology and overweight stance in Materials and Industrials.

Clean Harbors, Trane Technologies and Tetra Tech were the largest individual contributors over the period. Clean Harbors reported strong earnings, driven by sales volumes and pricing in its environmental services. Trane Technologies reported strong Q1 results as it continues seeing strength in commercial heating, ventilation and air conditioning, while the residential market shows signs of improvement. Tetra Tech issued better-than-expected earnings and raised guidance. It also upgraded medium-term guidance, with the company seeing strong opportunities across the board, particularly in water.

The largest detractor came from not owning Nvidia. Among our holdings, Soitec, Vestas Wind Systems and Zoetis detracted the most. Soitec reported disappointing results as destocking of inventories is taking longer than expected. Zoetis reported mixed results, with disappointment in its companion animals division. It was also affected by the rotation into value in March. Vestas Wind Systems reported solid results, but sentiment towards the stock was affected by expectations that rate cuts would occur more slowly than previously anticipated. There were also concerns over how cost-overruns on projects could impact revenues within its services division.

Outlook

The US macroeconomic environment appears resilient, while Europe seems to be stabilising. There are some signs of softening inflation in the US and an increasing likelihood of rate cuts starting in September. Alongside reasonable earnings growth, this leaves us cautiously optimistic for a broadening out of equity market leadership. Where there is less certainty is in the political environment, where French President Macron's surprise snap election and the looming US Presidential election are likely to create volatility.

We seek to invest in high-quality businesses trading at attractive valuations and that also have a sustainable competitive advantage through their positive impact on biodiversity. With increasing awareness of and regulation governing, biodiversity, we believe that companies that are leading the way and helping protect and replenish biodiversity through their operations, products or services should benefit from material tailwinds.

Federated Hermes China Equity Fund

Market Review

The benchmark MSCI China All Shares Net Total Return Index returned 2.3% over the first half of 2024 in US Dollar terms (3.1% in sterling terms). Chinese equities rose from near multi-decade lows in January, as depressed valuations for many Chinese stocks encouraged Asia-focused investors to cautiously return to the Chinese market, amid optimism about the authorities' support for the housing sector, later tempered by a corruption crackdown in key cities. Crude oil prices gained 26% and gold 13% amid ongoing tensions in the Middle East and predictions of a cut in US interest rates. Weakness in China's economy kept the prices of other key commodities down, including iron ore, copper and coal. Chinese value stocks rose 7.5%, outpacing their growth counterparts, which rose 2.4%.

At the sector level, Energy, Utilities and Communication Services performed best, while Health Care, Consumer Staples and Real Estate were laggards.

Investment Strategy

In the first quarter, we sold: PICC Property & Casualty, Hangzhou Robam Appliances, Shandong Weigao and Dada Nexus. In the second quarter, we sold China Railway Signal & Communications, Uni-President China, GF Securities, Sinotruk, Hengan International, Shenzhen Airport, Chinasoft International, Guangzhou Automobile Group, Stella International and Huayu Automotive Systems.

We opened positions in: Futu, a US-listed Hong Kong wealth management brokerage that caters to Asian investors; GCL Poly Energy, a renewable energy equipment manufacturer; and Xinyi Glass Holdings, a leading Chinese glass manufacturer. In the second quarter, we opened positions in: Nexon, a Japanese gaming company deriving substantial revenues from China; Qualcomm, a US-listed chip maker that generates the majority of its revenue from China; and Anker Innovations, a Chinese global leader in smart charging and consumer products.

Performance Review

The Fund returned 6.13% in sterling terms, net of fees, over the period, outperforming the benchmark MSCI China All Shares Net Total Return by 289 basis points (bps). The outperformance mainly resulted from stock selection in the Information Technology, Consumer Discretionary and Consumer Staples sectors. This was partly offset by stock selection in Communication Services and the underweight allocation to Financials, which outperformed. The underweight allocations to Health Care and Consumer Staples, which underperformed and an overweight to Industrials, which outperformed, also contributed to relative returns.

Trip.Com, a Chinese online travel agency, rose after posting solid results that highlighted a robust domestic travel market and improvement in outbound tourism. Foxconn Industrial Internet, a leading provider of intelligent manufacturing integration solutions, rose on strong Nvidia results. AAC Technologies, a Chinese manufacturer of smartphone components, rose on upgrades in the specification of key mobile phone manufacturers segment that benefit the company.

Baidu, China's leading search company, fell on concerns of continued weakness in advertising. Our underweight to Tencent, China's dominant internet entertainment services platform, detracted after the stock outperformed amid positive expectations for its Q1 earnings results. Swatch Group, a Swiss luxury watch manufacturer that generates most of its revenue in China, fell amid weakening luxury good sales.

Outlook

Concerns about a weak property sector and geopolitical tensions have kept Chinese equities depressed. We believe that these risks are more than priced in and, in the context of low interest rates, we believe that either a consumer sentiment boost or reduction in tension with the US could spur the meaningful outperformance of Chinese equities relative to equities in the rest of the world.

Federated Hermes Global Emerging Markets ex-China Equity Fund

Market Review

The benchmark MSCI Emerging Markets ex-China Index returned 8.4% over the first half of 2024 in US Dollar terms (9.3% in sterling terms), underperforming developed markets as measured by the MSCI World Net TR index (11.7%). Emerging market (EM) equities gained ground amid ongoing enthusiasm for artificial intelligence (AI) and optimism on Federal Reserve (Fed) easing. Global equities continued to edge up amid signs that slowing inflation across the major developed economies would bring interest rates lower this year, increasing the chances of an economic 'soft landing', which would support corporate earnings growth and share prices.

EM growth (8.3%) outperformed EM value (6.4%) year to date and EM equities continued to post outflows. At a regional level, EM Asia (14.2%) outperformed, while Emerging Europe, Middle East and Africa added 2.7% and Latin America (-15.7%) finished substantially lower. The majority of EM currencies depreciated against the US Dollar, notably Latin America currencies. Ongoing Middle East tensions remained, helping to push oil prices up 13.9%. Gold rose 13% and Silver jumped 23%.

Turkey (39.1%), Taiwan (29.4%) and Peru (18.2%) were the best performing markets, with Egypt (-32.6%), Brazil (-18.7%) and Mexico (-15.7%) at the bottom. Turkey (39.1%) posted the highest returns in EM ex-China over the period, helped by optimism that economic policy will remain orthodox as the central bank continued to increase interest rates, while runaway inflation sent domestic investors into shares, especially in the tech space. Asia emerged as the best-performing region within the EM landscape, particularly Taiwan (29.4%), home of TSMC, driven by on-going investor enthusiasm for AI-related stocks and technology companies. Indian (16.9%) equities continued higher, as Prime Minister Modi's Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP)-led National Democratic Alliance retained its parliamentary majority, although the BJP lost its single-party majority.

Brazil (-18.7%) led Latin America lower as its central bank flagged caution on future interest rate cuts, while flooding in Brazil's southern state of Rio Grande do Sul prompted investor concerns about economic growth, fiscal spending and inflation. Mexico also fell (-15.6%), a result of the Q2 selloff primarily related to Claudia Sheinbaum's election as president in June and her Morena party's supermajority in Congress, raising concerns about power-concentration.

Sector returns remain highly divergent. Information Technology jumped 24.4% to finish the period on top, followed by Consumer Discretionary (17.4%) and Energy (+5.7%). Materials (-8.7%), Consumer Staples (-4.6%) and Communication Services (-4.1%) finished in negative territory.

The team initiated several new positions:

- Wheaton Precious Metals, a pioneer in the streaming of gold and other precious metals, financing some of miners' capital expenditure in return for a share of future production
- Samsung Life, Korea's largest life insurer, sufficiently capitalised to increase its payout in line with the Korean government's 'value-up' initiative
- Bolsa Mexicana, Mexico's securities exchange, benefitting from easing interest rates and expectations of higher trading volumes
- Park Systems, a Korean manufacturer of microscopes used in the semiconductor industry
- Info Edge, India's premier online classifieds company, operating across recruitment, real estate, matrimony and education, which has significant success in venture investing
- India Mart, a discovery-led B2B platform, focused on the industrial and manufacturing sectors of India, using proprietary data analysis and AI to matchmake its 170 million buyers to its 7.3 million suppliers on its platform
- Nien Made, a designer and manufacturer of window coverings, an outstanding and well-run Taiwan family business, generating consistent through-cycle return on invested capital (ROIC) of above 20% and in line to benefit from the US housing market recovery (70-80% of Nien's sales)
- Bumrungrad Hospital, a healthcare provider in Thailand, with mid-term expansion plans to grow capacity by 50% and new growth opportunities in Kuwait and Saudi Arabia
- Singapore Telecommunications (SingTel), as a means to get exposure to emerging Asian telecom companies with strong structural growth, bought at a discount

The team added to Samsung, WEG, Fairfax India, Localiza, Infosys, HDFC Bank and Banorte as they assessed their risk-return profiles were attractive.

They sold Chailease, a Taiwan-based company principally engaged in traditional leasing and instalment payment services, due to weak results, driven by worse-than-expected non-performing loans in mainland China and Taiwan and delay to a China tax rebate. They exited the Portfolio position in Hero Motorcorp, a leading manufacturer of two-wheelers and scooters in India, following strong performance. They trimmed several technology holdings following strong performance, including TSMC, Lotes, Micron and Wiwynn, resulting in a reduction in the overweight allocation to Information Technology at the end of the period. In addition, they trimmed Freeport McMoran, Power Grid, Aspeed, Falabella and Motherson into strength.

Performance Review

The Fund returned 8.78% in sterling terms, net of fees, over the period, underperforming the benchmark MSCI Emerging Markets Index, which returned 9.34%, by -51 basis points (bps).

Country allocation had a positive impact on relative returns, notably a non-benchmark allocation to the United States (a result of bottom-up selection), avoiding Saudi Arabia and being underweight Thailand, which underperformed. These positions outweighed the negative impact from the underweight allocation to several outperforming markets including India, Taiwan and Turkey. Stock selection in Brazil, South Korea and Mexico detracted from relative returns, outweighing the positive impacts of our strong selection in India, Chile and Taiwan.

Lotes, a Taiwanese manufacturer of connectors, supplying CPU sockets designed for Intel and AMD, was the biggest individual contributor to relative returns, as Lotes rose on expectations that earnings growth would be boosted by demand for its quick-disconnect sockets for AI liquid cooling racks and the rising penetration of new AI server platforms. Micron, one of three leading manufacturers of memory chips, rose on quarterly results beating market estimates on strong memory price hikes. Both sales and earnings were materially ahead of expectations (including guidance), with profitability ramping fast and ahead of forecasts. Supply/demand balances continue to tighten, leading to an increase in average selling prices (ASPs), further magnified by rapid growth in high bandwidth memory (HBM) where ASPs are 10 times those of traditional dynamic random-access memory (DRAM). Samvardhana Motherson International Limited (SAMIL), a global auto-component supplier, rose on strong results aided by a healthy demand environment across all business segments and geographies.

Non-exposure to Hon Hai Precision, a manufacturer of iPhone, PC and service equipment, detracted as its shares surged on stronger AI server demand. Its solid market share in GPU baseboards and modules puts it in a favourable position as AI server demand continues to rise. Localiza, the leading car rental company in Brazil, continues to be weak due to higher depreciation caused by the ongoing rise in new vehicle prices and decreasing used vehicle prices. Localiza's management expected depreciation to continue rising in Q2. Going forward, improved dynamics for new and used car sales will be critical for stronger earnings growth. Hansol Chemical, a high-tech materials provider with dominant market share in Korea's (hydrogen peroxide) semiconductors market, fell after posting a Q4 2023 revenue/operating profit miss, largely due to deferred sales to Q1 2024. We expect to see meaningful sequential growth in 1H 2024, led by semi-materials.

Outlook

There have been several interesting developments in emerging markets this year that reinforce our view they are on a solid foundation with credible drivers of future growth. Elections in India, Indonesia and South Africa are reassuring for policy continuity and there is potential for acceleration in reforms in South Africa. While there was volatility post the election in Mexico, it is likely that the new government will take a market-friendly approach on issues that matter most to investors. Korea's corporate 'value up' programme could provide a helpful tailwind for many Korean companies if it is implemented well and the potential to address the Korean discount. China continues to support its property sector, while pursuing SOE reforms and its transition towards a higher value-added economy. There is a strong possibility that Brazil will maintain fiscal prudence, while the outlook for several commodities remains benign.

Positive policy action in many emerging economies could translate into a conducive environment for businesses to operate and flourish. The team prioritises investments in good quality companies with a proven ability to compound their value over a long period of time, with drivers that will help them grow structurally, with low leverage levels and which trade at reasonable valuations. Companies with these characteristics will be best placed to outperform in a world that may well see higher-for-longer and more volatile interest rates, slower growth and more geopolitical uncertainty.

Inflation, growth and geopolitical tensions remained key themes that investors had to navigate over the first half of the year. With central banks and financial markets continuing to be heavily data driven and macroeconomic indicators trending down in a slow and non-linear fashion, interest rates volatility continued to impact asset class performance meaningfully.

The inflation versus growth narrative has been especially difficult to navigate in the US, where the labour market has been strong and GDP growth in expansionary territory, while inflation prints, although trending downwards, have remained above target. This meant the Federal Reserve (Fed) could not deliver a single rate cut over the period and investors continued to reprice the timing and magnitude of expected rate cuts.

Political developments were also back in focus from June, as the results of European Parliamentary elections triggered a surprise snap election by French president Macron, leading to a major selloff in French assets. The spread (difference in yield) between the French and German 10-year government bond yields widened by 29bps to 80bps in the week after the election announcement, its biggest weekly widening since the Euro sovereign debt crisis in 2011.

Finally, geopolitical tensions continued to impact risk sentiment, especially at the start of the quarter, with worries of a broader escalation of the conflict in the Middle East spurring oil prices to a high of US$92/bbl during the period (falling back again towards the end of the quarter as no escalation occurred).

Investment Strategy

Overall, H1 was supportive for credit, even with the aggressive rate volatility over the latter part of the period due to the political risk in France and Europe as a whole and the post-Presidential debate moves from the US. The Fund remained neutral in credit and duration (a measure of sensitivity of a bond's price to a change of interest rates), with the team working on a few risk rotations, preferring longer dated bonds of issuers, especially in the retail, insurance and capital goods sectors.

Performance Review

The Federated Hermes Sustainable Investment Grade Credit Fund (net of fees, USD, F Acc share class) returned -0.22% in the first half of 2024, underperforming its benchmark by 74bps.

By sector, the Fund's overweight positioning in insurance, capital goods and retail were the top contributors to relative performance. In contrast, underweight positioning in financial services, the Real Estate sector and technology & electronics were the greatest detractors.

At the individual holdings level, the Fund's overweight positing in Telia, Assicurazioni Generali and Commerzbank boosted relative returns the most, while allocations to Apple, Gilead Sciences and GSK were the largest detractors.

At the regional level, the Fund's overweight allocations to North America, Western Europe and the UK were the top contributors to relative performance, while underweight exposure to Asia was the largest detractor.

From a ratings perspective, overweight positioning in BBBs and BBs positively impacted relative performance, while a significant underweight holding in A-rated bonds detracted the most over the period.

Outlook

Consensus continues to expect that growth will moderate through H2 but remain above trend. Much of this positive outlook hinges on consumption growth driven by growing real incomes and supported by positive wealth effects and strong labour markets. Inflation is expected to slowly make its way back to target, with goods disinflation doing the heavy lifting, while services remains well above pre-pandemic levels. This view of a 'soft landing' scenario is accepted and well-priced, but there are still risks to be mindful of. These include the rise in political volatility, uncertainty around the growth outlook, growing deficits, geopolitics and how higher-for-longer rates impact growth expectations and risk markets.

Corporate credit fundamentals remain healthy, with earnings holding up as cost pressures are easing and an earnings recovery is expected in the second half of the year. Interest coverage and leverage levels have slightly worsened, but from a strong base. Default rates have decreased to 1.79% for US high yield in June and 1.89% for European high yield in April, remaining well below long-term averages. Distressed transactions in the US have started to increase and totalled US$8.9bn in May, the third-highest monthly total for distressed exchanges on record.

Our near-term outlook favours exposure to high-quality bonds with selective exposure to B-/CCC-rated credit, a focus on low-cash-price bonds and a reduction in overall spread duration and we continue to be positioned in defensive sectors. Yields remain attractive and, as rates volatility continues to normalise, we would expect this part of the credit market to outperform. Lastly, we continue to believe that seamless integration of ESG and sustainability considerations coupled with active engagement is critical to sustainable long-term performance.

1. Incorporation and Principal Activity (continued)

Federated Hermes Impact Opportunities Equity Fund - The investment objective of the sub-fund is to achieve long term capital appreciation by investing in companies which will benefit from meeting the world's environmental and social challenges.

The sub-fund is an Article 9 fund for the purpose of Regulation (EU) 2019/2088 of the European Parliament and the Council on sustainability-related disclosures in the financial services sector (SFDR). A minimum of 2% of the sub-fund's investments will be aligned with the environmental objectives of climate change mitigation and climate change adaptation under the Taxonomy Regulation.

The sub-fund will seek to achieve its investment objective over a rolling period of any five years, by investing in a portfolio of equity securities quoted and/or traded on Regulated Markets worldwide, and the sub-fund will invest at least 67% of its assets in these securities.

The Valuation Point of the sub-fund is 12 noon (Irish time) on each Dealing Day.

The comparator benchmark for this sub-fund is the MSCI All Country World Investable Market Index.

Federated Hermes Unconstrained Credit Fund - The investment objective of the sub-fund is to generate capital growth and a high level of income over the long term.

The sub-fund is an Article 8 fund for the purpose of Regulation (EU) 2019/2088 of the European Parliament and the Council on sustainability-related disclosures in the financial services sector (SFDR). 0% of the sub-fund's investments will be aligned with the environmental objectives under the Taxonomy Regulation. The "do no significant harm" principle applies only to those investments underlying the sub-fund that take into account the EU criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities. The investments underlying the remaining portion of the sub-fund do not take into account the EU criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities.

The sub-fund will seek to achieve its objective over a rolling period of any five years, by investing at least 80% in a diversified portfolio of debt securities. The sub-fund will manage and adapt its market exposures dependent on market conditions, and the view of where markets will move to in the short, medium and long term. The sub-fund may take long positions and/or generate Synthetic Short Exposure through the use of FDIs. The Investment Manager may choose to reduce the market-related risks within the sub-fund by using FDIs to create a Synthetic Short Exposure to credit indices. In other market conditions, the Investment Manager can also seek to exploit divergent views on two companies in the same sector in a market-neutral way (creating neither a long or short exposure): it can either purchase the bond or use FDIs to generate a long exposure to one company while also using FDIs to generate a Synthetic Short Exposure in the other company. For example, this may be done when the Investment Manager believes an Investment Grade company has targeted for acquisition a Below Investment Grade company. In this way, the Investment Manager would use FDIs to reduce market related risks with the sub-fund then benefitting from the increase or decrease in the value of the companies (as the case may be). The securities in which the sub-fund may invest will be selected on a global basis.

The Valuation Point of the sub-fund is close of business in the relevant market on each Dealing Day provided that if any of the relevant markets are not open on a Dealing Day, the value of the relevant investments at the close of business on the previous Dealing Day shall be used.

2. Significant Accounting Policies

The significant accounting policies applied in the preparation of these Financial Statements are set out below.

Basis of Preparation

The condensed interim financial statements have been prepared in accordance with IAS 34 'Interim Financial Reporting', and should be read in conjunction with the annual financial statements for the financial year ended 31 December 2023, which were prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards.

Foreign exchange translation

(a) Functional and presentation currency

Items included in the Company's Financial Statements are measured using the currency of the primary economic environment in which it operates ("the functional currency"). The functional currency of the Federated Hermes Global High Yield Credit Fund is Euro, which reflects the fact that a large number of the investments in its portfolio are denominated in Euro. The functional currency of all other sub-funds is US Dollar which reflects the fact that a large number of the investments in its portfolios are denominated in US Dollar.

The Board has approved the presentation currency of the Company being changed from Sterling ("GBP£") to US Dollar (US$).

The change in presentation currency is accounted for retrospectively. Comparative figures for the period ended 30 June 2023 have been retranslated at the average rates of GBP£ to US$ currency rate of 1.0805 for the Statement of Comprehensive Income. Issues and redemptions of redeemable participating share in foreign currencies are translated at average rates.

As a result, for the current period, all sub-funds denominated in Euro have been converted to US Dollar in the total columns. For the comparative period, the presentation currency of the Company is shown in Sterling and it is also restated in US Dollar.

(b) Transactions and balances

Foreign currency transactions are translated into the functional currency of each sub-fund using the exchange rates prevailing at the dates of the transactions. Assets and liabilities are translated into the functional currency of each sub-fund using exchange rates in effect at the Balance Sheet date.

Foreign exchange gains and losses resulting from the settlement of transactions and from the translation at period end exchange rates of monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are recognised in the Income Statement.

Translation differences on financial instruments held at fair value through profit or loss are reported as part of net gain/(loss) on financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss in the Income Statement.

(c) Foreign exchange adjustments on aggregation

The presentation currency of the Company changed from Sterling ("GBP£") to US Dollar ("US$"). For the purpose of aggregating the Financial Statements of the sub-funds, current period values in the Euro denominated sub-funds in the Financial Statements have been translated to US Dollar at the average rate of exchange for the financial period on the Income Statement and at the financial period end rate on the Balance Sheet. Prior period values in the Euro denominated sub-funds in the Financial Statements have been translated to Sterling and are also restated in US Dollar at the average rate of exchange for the financial period on the Income Statement. The exchange adjustment arising from the difference between the average rate and the period end rate, in addition to the notional exchange adjustment arising from the translation of the opening net assets are shown in the Statement of Changes in Net Assets. The method of translation has no effect on the Net Asset Value per share attributable to the individual sub-funds.

The notional adjustment translation of the Cash Flow movements at the average rate opposed to the financial period end rate is shown in the Cash Flow Statement.

 Federated Hermes Sustainable European Equity Fund and Federated Hermes Sustainable Europe ex-UK Equity Fund were closed to further subscription on 26 June 2023 and are in the process of being terminated.

 On 1 March 2024, the investors in the Federated Hermes Multi-Strategy Credit Fund approved the merger into the Federated Hermes Unconstrained Credit Fund. This merger took place on 25 June 2024.

Please note that within the cash and cash equivalents balance there is a restricted cash amount of $6,463,162 (31 December 2023: $6,463,162) that is applied pro rata to each fund by reference to its individual liability and is set aside for a potential IRS liability for underpaid US Withholding tax, whereby the treaty rate of 15% was being claimed by the Fund instead of the standard rate of 30%, covering a period from January 2013 to March 2018. The Fund has not recorded a liability in the financial statements, as it is not probable that the Fund will have to settle the liability, as per the advice from the Fund's US tax advisors. The Fund has submitted a self-declaration and this is under consideration with the IRS at the date of this report. It is uncertain as to when the IRS will opine on the self-declaration as no set timelines are provided.

Federated Hermes Limited, the parent of Hermes Fund Managers Ireland Limited (the "Manager"), has agreed to absorb any potential US withholding tax liability on Federated Hermes Global Equity Fund. If no such liability is to be paid, Federated Hermes Limited can claim the restricted cash balance attributable to Federated Hermes Global Equity Fund. With the exception of Federated Hermes Global Equity Fund, the Fund retains the rights to and ownership of the restricted cash held.

The standard US withholding rate of 30% has been applied since March 2018.

For a breakdown of the restricted cash by sub-fund, please refer to note 14.

The Company has the power to redeem the remaining holding of any Shareholder who redeems their Minimum Holding of Shares to below the Minimum Holding or its foreign currency equivalent.

Every Shareholder will have the right to require the Company to redeem their Shares in the sub-fund on any Dealing Day (save during any period when the calculation of the Net Asset Value is suspended in the circumstances set out in the Prospectus) on furnishing to the Administrator a redemption request. All redemption requests are dealt with on a forward pricing basis, i.e. by reference to the price for Shares calculated at the Valuation Point on the relevant Dealing Day. The request for redemption of Shares must be received before 9.30 am (Irish time) on the relevant Dealing Day.

All the Shares of the sub-fund may be redeemed at the discretion of the Directors if, after the first anniversary of the first issue of Shares of the sub-fund, the Net Asset Value of the sub-fund falls below $250,000,000 for any period of time.

8. Fair Value Measurement

The Company categorises investments using the following hierarchy as defined by IFRS 13:

- Level I – Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets that are accessible at the measurement date for identical, unrestricted assets or liabilities. The type of investments which would generally be included would include equities, american depositary receipts, REITS, warrants and derivatives listed on a securities exchange.
- Level II – Quoted prices in markets that are not considered to be active or financial instruments priced using inputs other than quoted prices and for which all significant inputs are observable, either directly or indirectly (including quoted prices for similar investments in active markets, interest rates and yield curves, credit risks, etc.). The type of investments which would generally be included in this category would include corporate bonds, government bonds, asset backed securities, floating rate notes, P-Notes, bank debt and certain over-the-counter derivatives.
- Level III – Prices or valuations that require inputs that are both significant to the fair value measurement and unobservable (including the Investment Manager's own assumptions and assumptions used by the Board of Directors about what market participants would use in determining the fair value of investments). The type of investments which would generally be included in this category would include private or debt securities issued by private entities and investments priced by the Investment Manager. The inputs or methodology used for valuing securities are not necessarily an indication of the risks associated with investing in those securities.

The tables below set out the fair value measurements using IFRS 13 fair value hierarchies:

10. Connected Persons

The Central Bank UCITS Regulations require that any transaction carried out with a UCITS by a management company or depositary to the UCITS, the delegates or sub-delegates of the management company or depositary and any associated or group company of such a management company, depositary, delegate or sub-delegate (“connected persons”) must be carried out as if negotiated at arm’s length. Transactions must be in the best interests of the shareholders.

The Board of Directors is satisfied that there are arrangements (evidenced by written procedures) in place, to ensure that the obligations set out in Regulation 43(1) of the Central Bank UCITS Regulations are applied to all transactions with connected persons, and are satisfied that transactions with connected persons entered into during the period complied with the obligations set out in Regulation 43(1) of the Central Bank UCITS Regulations.

11. Soft Commission Arrangements

There were no soft commission arrangements affecting the Company during the financial period ended 30 June 2024 or financial year ended 31 December 2023.

12. Taxation

Under current law and practice the Company qualifies as an investment undertaking as defined in Section 739B of the Taxes Consolidation Act, 1997, as amended. On that basis, it is not chargeable to Irish tax on its income or gains.

However, Irish tax may arise on the happening of a “chargeable event”. A chargeable event includes any distribution payments to shareholders or any encashment, redemption, cancellation or transfer of redeemable participating shares.

Federated Hermes Investment Funds Public Limited Company

12. Taxation (continued)

No Irish tax will arise on the Company in respect of chargeable events in respect of:

- (a) a shareholder who is neither Irish resident nor ordinarily resident in Ireland for tax purposes, at the time of the chargeable event, provided appropriate valid declarations in accordance with the provisions of the Taxes Consolidation Act, 1997, as amended, are held by the Company; and
- (b) certain exempted Irish tax resident shareholders who have provided the Company with the necessary signed statutory declarations.

Dividends, interest and capital gains (if any) received on investments made by the Company may be subject to withholding taxes imposed by the country from which the investment income/gains are received and such taxes may not be recoverable by the Company or its shareholders.

13. Net Asset Value Per Redeemable Participating Share

The Net Asset Value per redeemable participating share of each sub-fund of the Company is determined by dividing the value of the net assets of the sub-fund by the total number of redeemable participating shares in issue.

18. Efficient Portfolio Management

The Company may, on behalf of each sub-fund, employ (subject to the conditions and within the limits laid down by the Central Bank) techniques and instruments relating to transferable securities and money market instruments, provided that such techniques and instruments are used for efficient portfolio management purposes. Such techniques and instruments may also, on behalf of each sub-fund, include foreign exchange transactions which alter the currency characteristics of transferable securities held by the Company. The Company may also, on behalf of each sub-fund, employ (subject to the conditions and within the limits laid down by the Central Bank) techniques and instruments intended to provide protection against exchange risks in the context of the management of its assets and liabilities.

The actual techniques employed by the relevant sub-funds are as follows:

- Northern Trust hedging across all portfolios
- Currency Hedging within the credit portfolios
- Rates hedging within the credit portfolios
- Market exposure management within the credit portfolios (Options on Index and Index positions)

Realised gains and losses on financial instruments used for efficient portfolio management are included in the Income Statement.

Federated Hermes Investment Funds Public Limited Company Unaudited Securities Financing Transaction Regulation Disclosures

The Securities Financing Transaction Regulation (Regulation (EU) 2015/2365) (“SFTR”) came into effect on 12 January 2016. The aim of the SFTR is to improve the transparency of securities financing transactions (“SFTs”) in the shadow banking sector, giving regulators access to detailed information to enable them to monitor risks in that sector on an ongoing basis.

The SFTR divides SFTs into four categories:

- Repurchase transactions;
- Securities or commodities lending or borrowing transactions;
- Buy-sell back or sell-buy back transactions; and
- Margin lending transactions, which is defined broadly to capture any extension of credit ‘in connection with the purchase, sale, carrying or trading of securities’.

The Company does not currently employ repurchase/reverse repurchase agreements and securities lending for the purposes of efficient portfolio management.

No sub-fund employed SFTs at the period end date of 30 June 2024.
