

SUMMARY RISK INDICATOR

The risk indicator assumes you keep the product for on 31/12/2029 depending on the recommended holding period.

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE

Tikehau 2029 is a "buy and hold" dated credit fund, with 100% of its net assets invested in Investment Grade issuers. It may invest up to 25% of its net assets in high-yield debt securities with speculative characteristics, and up to 30% of its net assets in subordinated financial bonds. At 12/31/2029, its end-of-life date, the bonds will have a residual maturity of no more than 6 months (final maturity of the product or early redemption options at the Fund's discretion). * Strategy mainly based on the holding of bonds, although the manager may carry out arbitrages.  In the event of a downgrading of certain issuers already in the portfolio, the Fund may be exposed to non-investment-grade issuers up to a maximum of 20% of its net assets.

PERFORMANCES

Past performance does not predict future results, displayed net of management fees, and computed each year dividends reinvested, in the Fund's reference currency (according to the currency of the State of residence of the investors, the returns may increase or decrease as a result of currency fluctuations). The achievement of the investment objective is not guaranteed.

RISKS

The main risks of the Fund are the risk of capital loss, counterparty risk, liquidity risk, sustainability risk and credit risk (this Fund can invest 25% of its assets in bonds with low credit quality; it therefore carries very high credit risk). For a full and detailed description of all risks, please refer to the Fund's prospectus available on the Company's website. The materialisation of one of these risks could lead to a drop in the Fund's net asset value.

Please refer to the Fund's prospectus to obtain all the information regarding the terms and operation of the Fund.

Please refer to the fund's prospectus and KID, and if necessary, contact your usual advisor before making any final investment decision.

NEWSLETTER FEBRUARY 2026

TIKEHAU 2029 – F-ACC-EUR

MARKET OUTLOOK

Geopolitics. February saw an escalation in the Middle East: the United States and Israel launched strikes on Iran on 28 February, mostly outside market hours, limiting their impact on monthly performance, but tensions still caused Brent crude to rise by 2.5% over the month (to $72.48/bbl, a seven-month high). On the trade front, the US Supreme Court ruled that the IEEPA tariffs imposed in 2025 were unconstitutional, forcing the Trump administration to introduce a blanket 10% tariff for 150 days. The EU suspended ratification of the new trade agreement with the United States.

Macroeconomics. US growth showed remarkable resilience, with net job creation of 130,000 in January and the ISM manufacturing index at its highest level since 2022. Higher-than-expected PCE inflation prompted investors to revise downwards the likelihood of rapid monetary easing, with the probability of a rate cut in June falling from 87% to 64%. In Europe, inflation remains below the ECB's target, despite preliminary figures in France and Spain surprising on the upside.

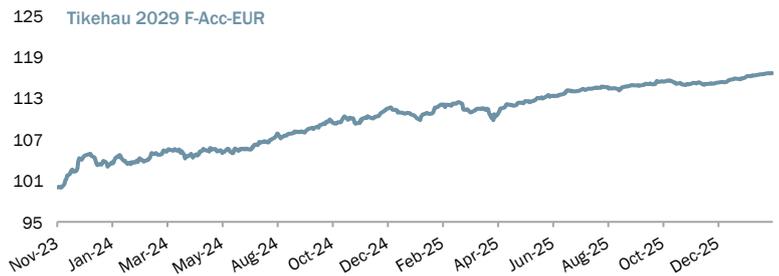

Central banks. The Fed remained cautious in the face of surprise inflation, leading to a decline in the prospect of rate cuts in H1. Long-term rates fell sharply: the US 10-year yield recorded its biggest monthly decline (-30bp to 3.94%) in a year, while the German 10-year Bund fell to 2.64% (-20bp). In Japan, the yield on the 10-year JGB fell for the first time in eight months (-13bp), reflecting an overall easing in sovereign bond markets.

Financial markets. Non-US equities posted solid performances (Eurostoxx 50 +3.2%, Nikkei +10.4%, MSCI EM +5.5%), while US equities declined (S&P 500 -0.8%) under pressure from technology stocks (Magnificent 7 -7.3%). In general, AI was the focus of discussion in February, particularly due to the accelerated launch of new tools and concerns about the potential impact of AI on employment and valuations in various fields, leading to a significant decline in equities and bonds in several sectors such as software, legal, asset management and financial services. Despite this, credit indices still posted positive performances (EUR HY +0.30%, EUR IG +0.55%), thanks to the downward movement in interest rates, while risk premiums widened (+5bps on average on HY and +8bps on IG). Precious metals benefited from an upward trend (gold +7.9% to $5,279/oz; silver +10.1%), in stark contrast to the fall in Bitcoin (-14.7%).

Positioning. Tikehau 2029 slightly underperformed the European Investment Grade index (ER00®, +0.55%, used for information purposes only) in February. This underperformance can be explained by the fund's lower duration than the index (3.15 years versus 4.5 years), which, in a context of falling interest rates, put the fund at a disadvantage compared to the index. On the other hand, we note the strong performance of financial subordinated debt, particularly AT1s, which offset part of the underperformance linked to the interest rate effect.

¹ The actuarial yield (YTW) and yield to maturity (YTM) are characteristics of the portfolio as of the date of this document: they are in no way a management objective, nor a guarantee, nor a promise of yield or performance, and are not a reliable indicator of performance. They are calculated excluding fees, potential hedging costs, and issuer defaults. The YTM is a weighted average of our estimates of the yields of the bonds held until their maturity and the YTW as a weighted average of our estimates of the yields of the bonds held until their probable call date (estimated by Tikehau IM). They may differ from the performance achieved at the end of the product's life, notably depending on the reinvestment conditions of cash generated by possible repayments or refinancings between their effective dates and the end of the product's life and are subject to market risks. Net yields after fees will always be lower. Yields expressed in another currency are calculated by applying forward exchange rate curves to estimate the future cash flows of the bonds in the currency of the share class.
