Factsheet

Bellevue Funds (Lux) | Share class I EUR

Investment Company with Variable Capital (SICAV) according to Luxembourg Laws – UCITS
Marketing communication / Financial promotion - For professional investors: AT, CH, DE, ES, HK, IT, LU

Investment focus

The fund aims to achieve a higher return than a classic mixed-asset portfolio (40% MSCI World equities / 60% Bloomberg Global Aggregate Bond, EUR hedged) regardless of market direction. In the pursuit of this objective, fund management focuses on preserving capital and limiting loss potential. The unconstrained multi-asset fund invests worldwide in equities, fixed-income securities, forex and (liquid) commodities – directly or indirectly via derivatives. It invests in strategies with compelling long-term performance patterns. Modern data analytics enhance its investment process. Strategy-specific risk budgets are defined to manage investment risk and reduce potential drawdowns. Fund management relies on traditional fundamental research as well as machine learning, big data analytics and other sophisticated quantitative research methods in its strategy selection and allocation process. The fund can be traded daily and ESG factors are taken into consideration in the pursuit of its investment objectives.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results and can be misleading. As the fund is denominated in a currency that may differ than an investor's base currency, changes in the rate of exchange may have an adverse effect on prices and incomes. Performance is shown net of fees and expenses for the relevant share class over the reference period. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and do not take into account the commissions and costs incurred on the issue and redemption of shares, if any. Individual costs are not taken into account and would have a negative impact on the performance. With an investment amount of EUR 1,000 over an investment period of five years, the investment result in the first year would be reduced by the front-end load of up to EUR 50 (5%) as well as by additional individual custody charges. In subsequent years, the investment result would also be reduced by the individual custody account costs incurred. The reference benchmark of this class is used for performance comparison purposes only (dividend reinvested). The funds is actively managed. No benchmark is directly identical to a fund, thus the performance of a benchmark is not a reliable indicator of future performance of the fund to which it is compared. There can be no assurance that a return will be achieved or that a substantial loss of capital will not be incurred.

Market review

The Fund increased by +1.78% in April, with a volatility of 4.9%. Over the same period, the MSCI World Index (EUR) rose by +7.91%, while the Bloomberg Global Aggregate Index (EUR-Hedged) increased by +0.14%.
The main drivers of performance during the month were equities (+2.04%), non-government bonds (+0.10%), government bonds (+0.01%) and gold (-0.12%).

The announcement of a ceasefire in the Iran conflict triggered a sharp rebound in risk assets. Equities benefited particularly, with the S&P 500 reaching new all-time highs. Credit lagged broader markets, due to existing hedges and some idiosyncratic weakness in Brazilian credits. Government bonds remained volatile and did not participate meaningfully in the ceasefire-driven rally.

Against this improved backdrop, we positioned the portfolio more offensively. We increased the equity allocation from 25% to 33% and managed exposures dynamically throughout the month. Within equities, we increased exposure to US stocks, which continued to outperform, supported by relatively lower sensitivity to higher oil prices and strong structural drivers such as AI-related capex. In addition, as confidence in a sustained ceasefire stengthened, we increased exposure to regions that had been more adversely affected by the conflict, particularly emerging markets, to benefit from the expected recovery. At the same time, we exited our energy equity positions, which had previously served as a hedge against rising oil and gas prices.

Following a stabilization in gold prices and with the investment case remaining intact, we increased the gold allocation from 1% to 3% towards month-end.

On the credit side, we increased the allocation from 29% to 37%. We favoured adding cash bond positions rather than reduce the existing hedge positions, as the tightening in credit spreads was rapid, bringing them back to pre-conflict levels, which are close to historical lows. On the government bond side, we closed the -10% Bund and -5% French 10-year positions following the ceasefire announcement and initiated a 5% long Bund. As a result, portfolio duration increased from 0.4 years to 2.3 years, compared with a long-term average of 3.7 years.

Positioning & outlook

We maintained our scenarios as follows:

Base scenario: Contained conflict. The conflict has entered a lower-intensity phase, with attacks becoming less frequent and less severe. Oil supply disruptions ease and the global economy, which started the year in a constructive position, absorbs the shock relatively well. Inflation rises temporarily due to higher oil prices, but central banks look through it and avoid aggressive tightening. Equity markets remain range-bound and volatile. This scenario is slightly negative for credit and government bonds.

Positive scenario: Rapid de-escalation. The conflict de-escalates faster than expected, whether through the reopening of the Strait of Hormuz, a weakening of the Iranian regime, or regime change. Oil prices fall back toward pre-war levels, removing inflationary pressure before it becomes entrenched. Underlying economic resilience and structural drivers reinforce confidence. Investors adopt a «buy the dip» stance. Equity markets recover sharply. This scenario is positive for credit and slightly positive for government bonds.

Negative scenario: Oil shock. The conflict remains intense, materially disrupting oil supply and driving a sustained rise in oil prices. The resulting energy shock pushes inflation higher. Central banks face a difficult trade-off and are hesitant to act decisively. Markets begin to price in higher long-term inflation and a global economic slowdown. Equity and credit markets correct. Government bonds are pressured as the inflationary backdrop keeps upward pressure on yields.

Risk and return profile acc. to SRI

The Fund's objective is to achieve consistent positive returns across the economic cycle. The targeted returns are intended to be largely de-correlated from those of major asset classes. It is therefore particularly suited to investors with an investment horizon of at least 3 years who are focused on achieving consistent absolute returns. The base currency of the Fund is EUR.

We have classified this product as risk class 3 on a scale of 1 to 7, where 3 corresponds to a medium-low risk class. The risk of potential losses from future performance is rated medium-low. In the event of very adverse market conditions, it is unlikely that the ability to execute your redemption request will be impaired. The calculation of the risk and earnings profile is based on simulated/historical data, which cannot be used as a reliable indication of the future risk profile. The classification of the fund may change in future and does not constitute a guarantee. Even a fund classed in category 1 does not constitute a completely risk-free investment. There can be no guarantee that a return will be achieved or that a substantial loss of capital will not be incurred. The overall risk exposure may have a strong impact on any return achieved by the fund or subfund. For further information please refer to the fund prospectus or PRIIP-KID.

Liquidity risk

The fund may invest some of its assets in financial instruments that may in certain circumstances reach a relatively low level of liquidity, which can have an impact on the fund's liquidity.

Risk arising from the use of derivatives

The fund may conclude derivatives transactions. This increases opportunities, but also involves an increased risk of loss.

Currency risks

The fund may invest in assets denominated in a foreign currency. Changes in the rate of exchange may have an adverse effect on prices and incomes.

Operational risks and custody risks

The fund is subject to risks due to operational or human errors, which can arise at the investment company, the custodian bank, a custodian or other third parties.

Awards

Benefits

- The fund aims to achieve higher returns than a classic multi-asset portfolio (40% MSCI World equities/60% Bloomberg Global Aggregate Bond, EUR hedged).
- The fund aims to keep drawdowns within a suitable range.
- Discretionary investment management, supported by AI-supported data analytics tools for strategy selection.
- Short positions can be taken, primarily for hedging purposes, provided the market environment is constructive for pursuing such opportunities.

Inherent risks

- The fund can invest some of its assets in bonds. A bond issuer might default.
- Investments in fixed-income securities are exposed to interest rate risks.
- Investments in emerging market assets are exposed to additional risks in the form of political and social unrest.
- The fund's investments may be denominated in a currency other than the fund's base currency, resulting in foreign-exchange risks.

You can find a detailed presentation of the risks faced by this fund in the "Special Investment Risks" section of the sales prospectus.
