Fund manager's report

Source : Groupama AM

April was marked by the resumption of negotiations between the US and Iran. This de-escalation in tensions was accompanied by renewed risk appetite and, consequently, a tightening of credit spreads (Itraxx -69bp and Main -14bp). Equity markets, for their part, received a significant boost (S&P 500 +13.6%, NASDAQ +19.7%, Euro Stoxx 50 +5.3% etc.) from a very positive Q1 2026 earnings season and upward revisions to guidance in the US. It is also worth noting a significant decoupling between US and European performance in this regard, with European companies' earnings remaining markedly below those of their US peers. Interest rates remained volatile but were ultimately relatively stable over the period. At the start of the period, intensifying geopolitical tensions, falling oil prices and continued encouraging economic figures in the US contributed to a fall in interest rates. However, towards the end of the month, the decision to keep key rates unchanged in both the US and Europe failed to prevent a rise in interest rates due to an apparent deadlock in talks between Tehran and Washington. The European and US central banks kept their monetary policies unchanged, arguing that it is still too early to assess the impact of the conflict in Iran on the economy and inflation. In the money market, we continued to see larger-than-usual issue premiums, in the region of 6 to 8bp on 1-year maturities for a number of European banks. French banks followed suit, but to a lesser extent. The markets are anticipating two ECB rate cuts within a fairly short period, the first as early as the start of summer. Over the month, the Ester remained stable at around 1.93%, while the Euribor rose by 13bp under the influence of market expectations, ending the month at 2.20%.

ESG performance indicators definition

Carbon intensity

Carbon intensity corresponds to the weighted average of greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions per million euro of turnover of the issuers invested in.

Scope 1, 2 and 3 upstream emissions are taken into account.

Scope 1 emissions correspond to emissions directly emitted by the company, while scope 2 emissions correspond to indirect emissions linked to its energy consumption. Upstream scope 3 emissions are all other indirect emissions generated upstream of the production activity.
